MOND, Va., May 9.—The debt commisbeld two meetings today. After the string in the forenoon a rumor prevailed the two sides were not far apart and that white an agreement had been reached and it awaited final details. This afternoon's the however—the proceedings of this n, however-the proceedings of which te ken made public has resulted in the t arriving at any settlement. Subsesaily, Virginia representatives held a meetaniminary report on the subject to be sub-aired to the general assembly tomorrow. A meet of the Virginia committee will be

The sub-committee of the Virginia debt camin ioners had three sessions tonight and sunt upon a report to be submitted to the must assembly tomorrow. From this report appear the last proposition of the landhold-ricresculatives was that they should have the principal sum of $26,87,000. This amount we resched by deducting from the debt of the state the Riddleberger bonds held by the state counting to $2,240,000; the bonds committed in the literary fund, amounting to $1,179,000; bonds held by the state of $1,179,000; bonds held by the state of the s by to $1,179,000; bonds neld by the board of public works, $163,000; debt due to thick States government $1,300,000, and is further deduction of $2,629,000, being ten went of the state's debt, evidence of which they claimed had been lost, and for which no instant would probably be made in the future, addition they domanded in cash from the site has um of $1,002,000, being forty per est of the sixty per cent of the arrearts of interest on the consol and 10-40 bit. They also demanded that the new lade should be exempt from all maion, state, county or corporation; that sposs should be tax receivable; that all exposs should be tax receivable; that all exposs should be tax receivable; that all exposs incurred or to be incurred in connection in the present negotiations should be paid to be state; and that after the expiration of myears no bonds should be funded by the steeps with the consent of the foreign ate except with the consent of the foreign and elders.

To these demands the legislative committee speced by saying, in substance, that the specifions named were wholly unsatisfactory

The committee, however, still anxious to much an agreement, presented as an ultimatum their part a proposition that the principal the debt be fixed approximately at $25,000,-to, to be capitalized upon terms hereafter to agreed upon, and to include all bonds held in, to be capitalized upon terms hereafter to hagred upon. and to include all bonds held by the state; new bonds to run for fifty years if per cent, to be redeemable at the pleasure of the state after ten years, and the question of secrity to be left open for further recitation. After the receipt of this emminication from the legislative committee its bondbolders' representatives modified their prosition only so far as to exclude bonds and by the sinking fund commissioners (1179 000) proposing that such bonds should have with them their rateable part of the unital interest charge of $806,000. They inher emphatically declared that they decared, unos for all, any negatiations that would inelve a reduction of the capital of the consol and 10-40 bonds so as to bring the total ment within $25,000,000. Thereupon the risistive committee adopted and forwarded a the English commission on the part of the forem bondholders have stated to this committee hat they in substance, adhere to the proposition that yereented by them, and have rejected the grossion made by this committee and declare before as their ultimatum: therefore, lessled, That it be communicated to the council of foreign bondholders, that in the opinion of the joint committee further revolutions will not tend to a final agreement, so that the elegislative committee will supplement

SULLY AND THE SOUTH. The Railroad King's Opinion of Our Section of Country.

New York, May 9.—President Alfred Sully, of the Richmond and West Point Terminal company, who has just returned from a trip over the roads forming that system, says:

over the roads forming that system, says:

"I went over some of our South Carolina lines, East Tennessee roads and the Georgia Pacific. I found them all in very good condition and a great boom down there in real estate and mining interests. There is a lull in Birmingham real estate sales, but there is a very large amount of building going on. There seems to be a remarkable amount of enterprise manifested in the south, especially in Alabama and eastern Tennessee, developing the natural resources of the country. While real estate speculation may have been overdone at some points, still many localities have yet to feel the effect of the enterprise and improvements going on. There is no question but that the newly developed manufacturing interests of the south are upon a permanent basis and I believe that Georgia. Alabama, and Tennessee will add 50 per cent to their material wealth in the next five years."

ARRIVAL OF MR O'BRIEN. The Editor of United Ireland Arrives in

New York. NEW YORK, May 9 .- The steamship Umbria, with William O'Brien, editor of United Ireland, and Bishop Ireland, of Minnesota, on board, was unable to cross the bar at high water this morning, on account of fog, and will now remain at anchor outside until six o'clock this evening. when the news was communicated to the re-ception committee, who went early to the Cunard pier to greet the distinguished passen-gers, they at orce notified Joha H. Staria to procure a s'eambost for them that they might procure a s'eambost for them that they might go down the bay to accord the welcome.

The Cunard steamship Umbria arrived off the lightship and anchored there at 6:13 p. m. Saturday, detained by the dense fog. No information of her presence was received in this city until Sunday at 6:30 p. m. A boat was then sent for the mails, but did not succeed in finding the Umbria until Monday morning. There is still (Monday) a dense fog outside, and the ship will probably be unable to reach her dock until tomorrow (Tuesday) morning. A tug was procured by a committee of Irish nationalists who wish to welcome O'Brien, of Dublin, and it started in search of the Umbria about the middle of the afternoon. Nothing has thus far been heard from it.

ALEUQUERQUE, May 9.—A special from Benson, Arizona Territory, says, all other reports to the contrary notwithstanding, no volcanic eruptions have occurred in southern Arizona. to the contrary notwithstanding, no volcanic eruptions have occurred in southern Arizona. On the 3d inst., simultaneously with the severe earthquake shocks experienced here, great clouds of smoke appeared over the peaks of Whetstone mountains, south of this point, and at night the horizon was brilliantly illuminated by what was supposed to be volcanic fires. The phenomenon continued during the day following the earthquake and on the 5th inst., an exploring party under the leadership of General Forsyth, commanding Fort Huachuca, started for Whetstone mountains for the purpose of investigating the supposed eruption. They returned on the 7th and reported that there was no volcanic cruption, although signs of an up heaver and mountain slides caused by the earthquake were sbundantly visible and that the brilliant illumination of the sky and clouds of smoke which hovered over the mountain paaks were caused by forest fires, which they had traced to the carelessness of some Mexican campers who had camped on the mountain on Monday. This report effectually explicate the volcano seasation among the people of Benson. explodes the volcano sensation among the

Another severe shock of earthquake was experienced here 1:14 o'clock this afternoon. No damage was done, but the shock caused great consternation among the people.

The Long Fast of a Catfish in a Virginia

FRANKLIN, Va., May 8.—[Special.]—Twenty-three years ago Mr. Sam. B. Putlow, a resident three years ago Mr. Sam. B. Putlow, a resident of Southampton county, near this place, caught a catifish measuring seven inches in length, which he put in a well on his premises used for watering his horses. The cat has been living there in that well ever siace, until today when he was found dead floating upon the water. He was drawn up from the well and measured spain by Mr. Putlow measuring at this time 67 inches. The fish has had no other sustenance than what animalcule was in the water. During hisstay in the well he has been drawn up several times by the bucket, and put back again. About two weeks 250 a young lady living in Mr. Putlow's family, sympathising with the fish knowing his need of food, began to feed him with bread. It has been said by some that this (giving him bread) caused his ome that this (giving him bread) caused his

DRUMMER'S TAX ILLEGAL.

An Important Decision by the District of Co lumbia's Supreme Court.

Washington, May 9.—Judge Merrick, in the district supreme court in general term today, announced the judgment of that court in the case of the district against Henneck, a Baltimore drummer, charged with being an unlicensed commercial agent. The act imposing the license tax was passed by the old district legislature, under the authority, it was claimed, of congress. The court dismissed Henneck, holding that a tax on drummers from other states is a regulation of commerce between such states and the district and that such a tax can be imposed by congress alone. The court held, however, that the act is applicable to district merchants and drummers. WASHINGTON, May 9 .- Judge Merrick, cable to district merchants and drammers. This decision is a boomerang to the framers of the law, inasmuch as they intended that it should have just the opposite effect.

CHICAGO AGAINST COERCION. A Large Meeting of Americans Send Greet

CHICAGO, May 9.—A rousing meeting of representative Chicago men was had at battery D armory tonight, to give expression to American sentiment in opposition to the suspension of constitutional liberty in Ireland. About 6,000 were present, drawn principally from well to do classes. Mayor Roche presided and most of the speakers were citizens of American high ar Governor Oglesby Rabbi Hirsh. most of the speakers were citizens of American birth, such as Governor Oglesby, Rabbi Hirssh, Wirt Dexter. Rev. Dr. Bolton, Congressman Mason and General Martin Beal. They strongly denonneed the coercion bill now pending in the British parliament. Resolutions similar in tone to the speeches were adopted, and cablegrams telling of the proceedings were for warded to Messrs. Gladstone and Parnell.

THROWN FROM THE TRACK.

A Railroad Accident in Indiana, But No On Killed.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., May 9.—The Monon passenger train for Chicago, due there yesterday morning, was wrecked one mile south of this place. The engine went one-third of the way down a thirty-five foot embankment. Both engine and tender lie wheels up, as they fell. The baggage car was also derailed. Engineer Green was found head downward between the engine and tender. He was badly scalded. The fireman saved himself by jumping. The wreck was caused by a misplaced switch. Railway officials claim it was opened and a stone placed between the rails by some one through malice.

General Strike Looked for Among the Anthraci Coal Workers-Stove Molders Refuse the St. Louis Patterffs.--Mayor Hewitt's Answer to a Workman-Other Labor Notes.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Dispatches from different points in the anthracite coal region are about equally divided in opinion as to the probability of a general strike of miners throughout that region for an advance in wages. The Knights of Labor and Amalga-mated association are at odds. Both favor a strike, but cannot agree upon the conditions, and knights in the employ of the Reading railroad oppose the strike until the miners have all joined the knights. Merchants and business men do not regard the movement with much favor and many of them say they will refuse to sell goods on credit if a strike

PHIADELPHIA, May 9.—Informal conferences were held today between the representative of the anthracte-producing companies, whose offices are located in this city, and it is understood that they are still determined not to grant an advance of 10 per cent in miners' wages. The conference will take place Wednesday between representatives of the coel miners and the producing companies, at which it is understood the companies will submit a proposition to the men to give them 3 per cent above the present wages. General Master Workman Powderly is declared to be opposed to a strike in the anthracite regions at this time, as the condition of the coal trade precludes all possibility of success.

The miners' and mine laborers' national district assembly No. 135, Knights of Labor, has issued a call for an annual session of delegates from miners' and laborers' assemblies of the PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Informal conferenissued a call for an annual session of delegates from miners' and laborers' assemblies of the United States, to be held in Cincinnati on June 1st. Each subdivision of national district assemblies is entitled to one representative for the first six hundred members or less and an additional one for each additional six hundred members of the majority fraction thereof. There are eleven subdivisions of the organization divided among the various anthrasite and there are even study and the various anthracite and bituminous coal and coke regions of eastern and western Pennsylvania and Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and other southern and western states Master Workman Bailey is expected to preside, and the convention will be called upon to yote on resolutions to support the upon to vote on resolutions to support the Pennsylvania miners in the demands they have

BREAD MAKERS AND WINNERS. Bakers Win Their Strike--Arbitration for the Hod Carriers.

Chicago, May 9.—At a conference between the journeymen bakers' committee and the bosses yesterday an agreement was reached whereby the journeymen gain the material points demanded. The bosses agreed that ten bours should constitute a day's work, except on Saturday, when the men shall laber twelve hours; a week to consist of six days, and extra pay when work is done on Sunday. None of the men are to be compelled to board with the bosses, and in lieu of such board $4 per week Hod Carriers. bosses, and in lieu of such board $4 per week

It is said that a committee of three has been appointed by the Awalgamated Building Trades appointed by the Amalgamated Building Trades council with instructions to wait upon the executive committee of the Master Masons' association and to settle the strike of the hod carriers, if possible. The council also decided to notify the contractors that in case of refusal to settle the difficulty by arbitration all the union carpenters, gas fitters, plumbers, plasterers, etc., will be withdrawn from jobs at which non-union laborers are camployed. union laborers are employed.

LONGSHOREMEN AGAIN. More Trouble Anticipated on the Jersey

Gity Piers.

Jersey City, N. J., May 9.—About 100 longsheremen employed at the Rotterdam, Inman and Red Star steamship piers are on a strike.
The strikers are extra men who are paid by the hour. They receive 25 cents per hour for day and 40 cents per hour for night work. They demand an advance of five cents per hour for day and night. Regular forces of the three companies, who are paid $15 per week, work or nlay have not injured the strikers. Nor are City Piers. play, have not joined the strikers. Nor are they expected to do so. The strikers claim that steamships are carrying comparatively little freight, and that extra men cannot earn more than $6 per week on an average. Representatives of the steamship companies stated this morning that the demands of the strikers will not be acceded to. They claim that the longaboremen regularly employed by the companies can get along for the present at least without extra help.

THE MAYOR AND THE LABORER. A Plasterer Appeals to Mayor Hewitt for Protection. New York, May 9.—Mayor Hewitt today, writing in response to a complaint from a plasterer, who says he has been interfered with by the plasterers' society in his cefforts to ob-by the plasterers' society in his efforts to obtain work, says:

Your complaint is one of many which have been made to me on the same subject in other branches of business. I can only say that such conduct on the part of societies is unlawful and indefensible. You can of course, recover damages by sait at law, but I understand perfectly the difficulty which is in the way of a laboring man who has not means or friends to condict a lawsuit. I st onld think that an association might be formed in New York to defend the rights of honest mechanics who are refused the opportunity to earn their living, and I will gladly co-operate with any citizen who may think as I do, that the occasion is one which needs prompt and earnest action.

Socialistic speech in Pittsburg.

PITTEBURG, Pa., May 9 — Walter Vrooman, socialist and editor of the Labor Organizer, of Kansas City, Mo., was arrested tonight while speaking in the Diamond, in Allegheny City. The Diamond is in the center of the city, and The Diamond is in the center of the city, and the speech had attracted a large crowd. Vrooman said the American flag was a pole with a rag to it. This aroused the crowd, and they became so violent in their denunciations of the speaker that Mayor Peterson ordered Vrooman's arrest, fearing that he would be injured. A charge of disorderly conduct was made assint him.

The Boycotted Patterns.

MILWAUKEE, May 9 .- Stove molders employ-MILWAUKEE, May 9.—Stove melders employ-ed at Dulcha works numbering 200 were locked out today because they refused to work on boy-cotted St. Louis patterns. They had been on strike three weeks, but last Friday returned to work with the understanding that they were to make prescribed patterns. Similar action is expected tomorrow at Brand works.

Rolling Mill Men Strike. PITTSBURG, May 9.—The amalgamated men at A. M. Byers & Co's. rolling mill struck this morning because the firm refused to employ an

UNROLLING THE DIAMONDS. The Sharp Trick of a Cincinnati Swindler in

The Sharp Trick of a Cincinnati Swindler in Nashville.

Nashville, May 9.—[Special.]—The only arrest connected with the races, though police were on the look out for swindlers, was made last night. The arrested party is a tall heavy set young fellow, with small mustache and appears to be about 26 years of age. He was spotted by the chief of detectives Casteen on several eccasions, endeavoring to dispose of dismonds, and was closely shadowed. Yesterday he rushed hurridly into a pawn shop, explained that he had been swamped at the races, but wanted $100 on some diamonds which he had in his pocket, until he could get a draft cashed on Monday. From the inside pocket came a carefully wrapped parkage containing an elogant pair of old style heavy gold earrings of foreign make. The settings were missing, but from a small piece of tissue paper was unrolled two handsome diamonds, which exactly fitted the settings. The jeweler glanced at the sparkling gems, but before giving him the money took them to his brother, in the rear of the store, and while they were examining them he noticed the sparkle grow less brilliant each moment, and when examined by test were found to be bogus. The trick was in the unrolling of the diamonds from the tissue paper, inside of which was coated over with some kind of chemical, friction against which, as the stones were unrelled, gave them a momentary brilliancy that would deceive an expert. Later in the evening the same youth was standing in front of the Maxwell house confidentially talking to a well known young man of this city, to whom he related that he had about $500 worth of diamonds, but that he could not pawn them, as suspicion would attach to him, being a stranger, but in consideration of $25 cash, the Nashville young man could have the stones and no one would be the wiser. The unrolling process was then performance, stepped up and took the man in custody. At the stationhouse he gave the name of Frauk Lewis, his home Chicago, and his business race horse betting. He was after wards iden noterious crook, and among his effects were found various atcles used in the profession, together with a lot of bogus diamonds. As there is nothing to hold him on here but vagrancy, he will repeabable be valeaged. he will probably be released.

TRYING THE THIEVES. . First Case of the Pan Handle Robberles in Court.

PITTSBURG, May 9 .- The Pan Handle rail-PITTSBURG, May 9.—The Pan Handle railread robbery cases were taken up in the criminal court bis morning, Judge Ewing presiding. The first case tried was that of Wm. T.
Lavaile, a brakeman. The prosecution produced witnesses from Philadelphis; Dannison, Ohic; Pittsburg and Penrod, Ky.; and traced goods shipped from the former place to the
'f nee" in this city, established by the detectives for the purpose of detecting the thieves.
Detective Allen, who ran the 'fence,' testified that Lavaile had sold to him a large lot of goods which he acknowledged he had taken from a freight car. These goods were afterwards identified as the property of a firm in Kentucky.

Lynching of a Negro in North Carolina for RALES 1. N. C., May 9.— It is reported from Starboro that Ben White, a negro, who feloniously assaulted a sixteen-year old white girl, member of one of the best families in the county, member of one of the best families in the county, was lynched by masked men Saturday night. When arrested Judge Shipp, of the superior court, for the better protection from the indignant friends of the girl, sent the negro to jail at Williamston, N. C. A body of men arrived there on the train Saturday night, picket of the streets, broke open the jail, took the negro to Tarboro and hanged him to a tree near where he perpetrated the outrage. There was some excitement among the colored people at Williamston, the better class of whom, however, think White deserved his fate.

Conservatives Who Meditated the Support of Mr Gladstone's Motion-The Orar Writes a Letter to Emperor Wilhelm—A Sensational Murder in Paris-General Foreign.

LONDON, May 9 .- [Special.] - With regard to the division last Friday night, refusing a select committee, a d putation of conservative members waited upon the Irish party, to say that if the latter were willing that the scope of the proposed committee be so enlarged so as to include the Parcell letter, they, representing a considerable number of conserva tives, would support Mr. Gladstone's amendment. The Irishmen counseled with Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Morley and Mr. Dillon, and subsequently said they were willing to have it so enlarged as to include any charge made by anybody against any Irish member. Then the conservatives waited on Mr. W. H. Smith. He instantly said that if any independent action was taken among his followers, he would resign. The matter therefore was dropped.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt is going to move, as a proviso to the first clause of the crimes bill, that it may not be applied with respect to any matters relating to public meetings, or to transactions relating to public meetings, or to transactions which relate to the letting, hiring or occupation of land, or the ordinary relations of employer and employed. The whips are not at all so sanguine as the government supporters with regard to the progress which the latter hope will be made in committee before Whitsantide. The Times Dillon affair tends to weaken the alliance of the conservatives and unionists, and thus works directly against the interests of the government. Sir Thomas Grove, unionist, member for Wilton, speaking ou Saturday, said that the accusations of the Times against Mr. Dillon were most cowardly, and that the government had made a great mistake, and had been guilty of a very stupid actake, and had been guilty of a very stupid ac-

The heated state of feeling in Paris was evidenced by a scene as a murder, which has caused considerable sensation. Two commercial men named Weissman and Patricia, who were parties to a bitter fend, met in a cafe. The proprietor, Terrian, to avoid a row, asked Weissman to leave the place. This er raged the latter, and in the scuffle which followed, Weissman drew a swordstick and morbelieving that Weissman are was word steek and mortally pierced Terrian. A crowd collected, and believing that Weissman was a German, tried to lynch him. The police arrested him, and restored order. He asserts that he drew his sword only after Terrien had struck him on the head with a heavy glass jug, inflicting a head wound.

PROCEEDINGS OF PARLIAMENT Spirited Words by Irish Members-The Coercion Bill Up Again.

LONDON, May 9 .- Mr. Healy in the house of commons this afternoon, asked what answer had been returned by the government to the letter of Patrick Eagan, treasurer of the land league, offering to return to Dublin and stand trial for the charges against him, provided the venue in his case was not removed from Dablin. Colonel King Harmon, parliamentary secretary for Ireland, replied that no answer had been sent for the reason that no such letter had been received. [Laughter.]

Mr. Healy then requested W. H. Smith, first lord of the treasury, to state, if it was the intention of the government to sanction the conduct of Mr Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, in deliberately abstaining from coming into the house until the questions on the paper relating to Ireland were all over.

W. H. Smith objected on the ground that smendments to the first section should first be dealt with.

Mr. Morley supported the motion.

A hubbub ensued, ending in a division, which resulted in the motion being rejected by a vote of 249 to 176.
Mr. Healey asked the government to state their views on his amendment.

Mr. Smith replied that their answer had already been given. He then moved for the cloture and the motion was adopted—249 to

Mr. Healy's amendment was rejected by a vote of 250 to 150.

Mr. Labouchere moved to report progress.

The motion was rejected 248 to 170.

Robert Wallace, member for East Edinburgh, home ruler, moved that the chairman leave the chair, Mr. Conybeare, radical, supporting the motion. porting the motion.

Mr. Smith again proposed the cloture and the motion was carried—248 to 160.

Mr. Wallace's motion was negatived by a vote 245 to 162 and Mr. Smith then moved to

A New Route Proposed for the Relief of Emin Bey.

Lendon, May 9.—Advices from Banzo Mundeka, Congo, dated March 29th, say: That Hedry M. Stanley, with his expedition for the relief of Emin Bey had arrived there. All members of the party are well. Stanley has decided to take a ronte by way of Stanley Falls for Emin's camp at Wadelai. He will restore the authority of the international association at Stanley Falls, install Tippoo Tib and afterward ascend the Mbowra, which is now known to be for a great part navigable. At the ward ascend the Mbowra, which is now known to be for a great part navigable. At the point where navigation ceases, a caravan will start across the country, striking Albert Nyanya, at Murswur, where Stanley intends to form and fortify a camp and then send in advance to warn Emin of the arrival of the expedition, and precure transportation to Wadelai by Emin's two steamers. The enterprise has caused a sensetion among the prise has caused a sensation among the natives. Many men from the factories at Banana and Boma are flocking to join the expedition, the news havingspread of the return of the "white prophet," who will restore order among the people.

DILLON LOSES THE SUIT.

The Court Says the Police Had the Right to Rob Him.

DUBLIN, May 9.—In the case of John Dillon sgainst Police Inspectors O'Brien and Davis, for assault and illegal seizure of money and papers at Laughres, the court of the queen's bench has adjudged that the conduct of the police was lawful It will be remembered that Mr. Dillon and the other members of the leave were lawful It will be remembered that Mr. Dillon and the other members of the league were closeted in a hotel at Laughrea, receiving and receipting for moneys paid them as trustees by tenants under the plan of campaign. The police, without warning, broke into the room and by force took from Mr. Dillon the money and papers he had in his possession. Mr. Dillon at once had the its pectors who were responsible arrested, the plaintiff taking ground that he was not violating any law and that the action of the police was an assault unwarranted and illegal.

DECISIONS RENDERED MONDAY MAY 9, 1887.

Hop, Logan E, Blackley, Chief Justice, and Hom Samuel Hall and M. H. Blandford, Associate Justices—Reported by J. H. Lumpkin, Reporter, for the Constitution.

McCey vs. State. Murder, from Walker. Criminal Law. Witness. Perjury. Duress. Practice in Superior Court. (Before Judge

Branham)
Bleckley, C. J.—1. The principal witness for the state having testified that he swore before the coroner's jury that he did not know who committed the homicide, that the prisoner had threatened his life if he ever told on him, and that seting under the fear induced by this ihreat he concealed his knowledge and swore to his ignorance, it was error for the court to charge the jury that "one is not responsible for erime committed under duress," at the same time defining duress thus: "Duress consists in crime committed under dures," at the same time defining dures thus: "Duress consists in threats of bedily or other harm, or other means amounting to or tending to coerce the will of another, and actually inducing him to do an act contrary to his free will." Section 2637 of the Code, from which this definition was taken, relates not to crime but to contract. To ren-der threats or menaces available as an excuse der threats or menaces available as an excuse for a person charged with crime, they must be "threats or menaces which sufficiently show that his or her life or member was in danger, or that he or she had ressonable cause to believe, and did actually believe, that his or her life or member was in danger." Code, § 4303.

2. Is perjury committed in a legal tribunal, in the midst of officers and ministers of the law, with full opportunity to demand surety of the peace and appeal to the state for protection, one of the offences for which fear is a legal excuss? Quare.

3. But though the witness might be legally culpable by reason of false swearing under the influence of a groundless or needless fear, yet if fear for his life existed and was the real cause of his dereliction, and he now swears truly of his dereliction, and he now swears truly, the jury may credit his testimony irrespective of his responsibility for yielding to his fears on the former occasion. The court, however, should not grant him legal absolution, but leave the jury to deal with the question of his veracity, as one of fact, 69 Ga., 33.

4. For the jury, without the knowledge or consent of the prisoner and without leave of consent of the prisoner, and without leave of whilst deliberating on the case, the gan with which the state contends the homicide was committed, and the cost worn by the deceased at his death and pierced with the fatal shot, is

Loeb vs. Smith Bros. & Co. et al. Attachments, frem Decatur. Affidavit. Laws. Words and Phrases. Construction. Pleadings. (Before Judge Bower.)

Bleckley, C. J.—1. To swear to a petition is to affirm on oath that the matters of fact alleged therein are true. The signature of the witness and the jurat of the magistrate annexed to the netition, are sufficient evidence that the the petition, are sufficient evidence that the cath was taken by the one and administered by the other. A full and formal affidavit is not indispensable to the granting of an attachment by the judge against a fraudulent debtor under sections 3297, 3298 of the code. A petition sworn to is sufficient. 2 In granting an attachment under these sections, the judge may rest his decision on affidavit or on other testimony, but the statute contemplates that the testimony shall be in writing and not oral. Mere oral testimony cannot be heard or censidered.

2. The judge acts judicially in granting the attachment, but ministerially in issuing it. His order granting it should be be in writing. just as any other judgment which he is authorized to render, and this order is the proper basis of the a tachment, whether issued by himself, or another magistrate, or by the clerk. The attachment is not a judgment, but a writ and for that reason is not self-supporting. With a proper order behind it, the testimony on which the judge acted in granting it, is not examinable collaterally, but only by writ of error to his decision, or by application, according to section 3299 of the Code, to remove, modify or vacate the attachment. Where, however, no order granting the attachment appears, the affidavit or other testimony stands in place of the order, and is examinable whenever and wherever the attachment is sought to be used to affect the rights of the defendant or be used to ancet the rights of the defendant or of third persons. If, when examined, the affidavit or testimony be found sufficient to warrant the grant of an attachment on the petition, the attachment, when issued by the judge himself, will be upheld, notwithstanding the lack of a formal order; but if insufficient, the attachment cannot be sustained unless an order is produced. 72 Ga: 195.71 Id. 859 produced. 72 Ga; 195; 71 Id., 8

4. The petition for attachment need not allege the acts of the debtor in more specific terms than the language of section 3297 of the Code, and if a fraudulent sale be alleged, the petition need not allege that the purchaser had knowledge of the debtor's fraudulent intent.

McNaught & Scrutchin vs. Anderson. Claim, from DeKaib. Hugband and Wife. Debtor and Creditor. Practice in Superior Court. (Before Judge Richard H. Clark.) Bleckley, C. J.—1. If a husband consent that his wife may take boarders into the family and that she shall have the gross proceeds for application on a contract which he has made with a third person for the purchase of real estate; and if money so acquired by the wife be thus applied, the money is hers and not his, her right to it being founded on a meritorious consideration; and if, on completing payment, the wife take a conveyance of the premises to consideration; and if, on completing payment, the wife take a conveyance of the premises to herself from such third person, her title will prevail against a creditor of her husband who gave credit after the property was paid for, though the conveyance to her be of later date than the giving of such credit, it not appearing that the credit was given upon the faith of the specific property, or that the debtor was in on as apparent owner when the debt was created.

MISS RUTHERFORD CALLS FOR HELP.

Miss Rutherford has been greatly troubled of late by the behavior of the boys. They have committed acts of vandalism upon the institute property, and have persisted in this work to such an extent that some nights ago a special officer was placed in the Lucy Cobb grounds. Saturday night when the armed crowded its emearance at the institute gate, the rands. Saturday night when the arms ter, the made its appearance at the institute gate, the effect on duty quietly told them that they should not enter, that he would fire upon the inside.

STARVING TO DEATH.

A Terrible Story of Destitution From Milton County.

County.

ALPHAREITA, Ga., May 9.—[Special]—A mor reached this place on Saturday last fam a remote corner of the county that one Henry Patrick, colored, and several of his maily had died within the last week from some strange cause. Along with this came the further remor as to the cause, to wit, that one D.P. Morris, who runs a grist mill in the commity of Patrick's home, had for some time last teen missing meal from his mill, and in order to detect the thieves he had mixed some poison in his meal, and that Patrick order to detect the thieves he had mixed some poison in his meal, and that Patrick had got possession of the breadshad got possession of the breadshad thus diluted, and had furnished it to his family, and thus the strange deaths were caused. Coroner N. H. Broodwell hastened to the place and with a jury from the vicinity spent the day, Saturday, in againg into the matter. The jury returned a verdict: That Patrick came to his death from sme ur known cause. On investigation it was found that there were no grounds for the rumers as to the poison theory. The coroner and many others that were at the inquest are of the opinion that the negroes have been thing from the want of meal and other eatable. And it developed that what they had aken for some time past was actually given them by Mr. Morris. There are seven small children of the family still left, some of whom use sick, and all of whom look as if they were darving.

Fractured His Skull. FORSYTH, Ga., May 9.—[Special.]—Marcus Clark, who teaches a colored school in this ity, was returning from church, near Stroud's foot roads, in this county, on yesterday afternoon. When about a mile this side of the church his horse ran away, threw him out of the burgy, and his head striking a rock, fractured his skull. The horse was stanged by sme of his skull. The horse was stopped by sme of his friends, and they going back, find like extinct. He will be carried to Macon, in former home, this afternoon.

HE IS NOW IN JAIL. An Alleged Criminal Waiting for the Jury's

EASTMAN, Ga., May 9.—[Special.]—There is some solicitude for the safety of Aaron McLe od who has been confined in jail here, charg of with an assault upon Mrs. J. W. Mullis. The offerse, which took place on the 18th of August last, displayed wonderful pluck in its resistance by the lady. Her husband had left home carly that morring to go over to Mr. William Taylor's on business. While he was absent McLecd quit his work in the field and went to the house. He found Mrs. Mullis sitting in the front excands engaged in peeling speaches. Appreaching her, he made known his heinous intentious and attempted to take hold of her. The lady picked up her little babe and can into the house, at the same time telling McLecd that if he followed her she would kill him. McLeod was not easily frightened, however, and didn't hesitate a moment in pursuing his intended victim. Realizing that she could not frighten the brate away, and being powerless to harm him, Mrs. Mullis retreated through the back door, and screaming at the top of her voice, ran with all her might in the direction of two men whom she knew were engaged in chopping wood some distance off. Her screams attracted the attention of the woodcutters, and they came to meet her. The sight of the two men caused McLeod, who had followed Mrs. Mullis up to this time, to beat a hasty retreat, not until, however, he warned the lady that if she told on him he would surely kill her. The alarm was soon given, and, in a short time crowds of neighbors were scouring the woods in every direction for the black fiend. McLeod, however, made good his escape, and, after several weeks' searching, all efforts to appre-Verdict. however, made good his escape, and, after several weeks' searching, all efforts to appre-hend him ceased. A few days ago Mr. Millis received a tolegram from Macon, stating that McLeed was under arrest in that city. Henry Peacock went to Macon and returned with his prisoner, who was given a preliminary hearing before Jrdge Arthur, and was bound over in the sum of five hundred dollars to await—the sction of the next grand jury. Failing to give the bond, he went to jail. Mr. Mullis's friends believe that it is unnecessary to postpone a well deserved punishment, and are likely to be heard from at any time.

Escapes. Escapes.

AMERICUS, Ga., May 9.—[Special.]—About 1 o'clock Sunday morning Dr. C. A. Brooks, who beards with Mr. J. E. D. Shipp, at Furlow's Lawn, had occasion to get up from his bed. As he again started for the bed he saw a dark object pass his window. He suspected something, but quietly laid down, and closing his avance of healthing healthing formed to slean. eyes and breathing heavily, feigned to sleep. He scon saw at another window a dark lantern moving up and down and throwing its light on his face. His coat and vest hung at the head of his bed, next the window facing on the piaza, and in his vest pocket was his watch. In turning over once he took the precaution to catch held of the edge of his vest with the tips of his front finger and thumb. In about an hour after he lay down he felt a gentle pull at his vest. He waited no longer for action. He made a bound for the window and gave a loud cry of "Thief!" The thief was too cunning for him, however. As the doctor reached the window the blinds were closed in his face. While he was opening them the thief made his escape. A thorough search was made over the eyes and breathing heavily, feigned to sleep. escape. A thorough search was made over the lawn, but no thief was found.

Enemy.

Augusta, Ga., May 9.—[Special.]—The su Augusta, Ca., May 9.—[Special.]—The superior court has been engaged all today in hearing the case of Adolphus Leopard, charged with the murder of Wm Brooks, at Algernon Mills, about two weeks ago. About twonty witnesses testified. The substance of their testimony was that on the night in question, Brooks, who had occupied the position of night watchman, and was succeeded by Leopard went to the mill gate learned squigat the perd, went to the mill gate, leaned against the post, sharpened his knife on his shoe sole and called for Leopard. Upon his arrival at the fence Brooks said:

"You have taken my job from me and I intend to kill you." Then he jumped against the gate and cut at Leopard through the fence. As he did so Leopard jumped back, drew his revolver and fired, killing Brooks almost instantly. Messrs. Fos-ter & Lamar are representing Leopard, and Boykin Wright the state. The case is exciting much interest, and the courtroom has been crowded all day. The case will probably be concluded tomorrow.

CHASTAIN IN JAIL.

A Meeting in the Interest of the Hawkinsville Road. THOMASVILLE, Ga, May 9.—[Special.]—Sheriff Hurst returned this morning from South Carolina with John Chastain. Chastain South Carolina with John Chastain. Chastain killed a negro near this city last fall and fled. His whereabouts have not been known until information was received a few days ago that he was in South Carolina. He was captured without trouble and brought here safely.

An enthusiastic meeting of citizens assembled at the city hall this afternoon, looking to getting the Atlanta and Hawkinsville and the Augusta and Gulf railroads to ome to Thom-asville. A committee of five was appointed to confer with the authorities of the roads as to what were the chances to get the roads. Thom-asville can always be counted on to do whatevever will advance her interests.

"I am discouraged. I have too much to do, I am tired. I am sick. I suppose I was put into this house to keep it clean, but it is too much work. I won't try. I will go to sleep. I don't care what becomes of the house."

The above is an allegory. The discouraged housekeeper is the liver, which, indeed, is often called "the housekeeper of our health."

WHO SHOOTS EITHER FOR SUICIDE OR HOMICIDE.

A Jacksonville Refugee Arrested in Savarnah on a Grave Charge—His Sansational Conduct at the Stationbouse—An Attempt at Eliter Hemicide or Suicide—The Details.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 9.-[Special.]-The police barracks was the scene of an animated shooting affray this morning that did no mortal damage, however. About 8 o'clock, in the sergeant's office, Charles V. Harris attempted nicide or homicide, it is undetermined which. At 9 o'clock last night a telegram was received here from Jacksonville, to look out for Harris, who was wanted for larceny after trust. When the relief was put out at 11:45 the men were instructed to look out for Harris. Early this morning a man was sent to the Savannah, Florida and Western railroad depot, and Policeman Spann was directed to keep a watch out around the hotels. Mr. Spann had visited two or three of the hotels, and was walking along Bryan street about 7:30 o'clock a. m. today when he saw a stranger approaching between Barnard and Wnitaker treets. The stranger tallid closely to the description. The policeman stepped up to the suspected party and arrested him. The prisoner pretended to be greatly surprised, wanted to know why he was arrested, and said that he had not done anything criminal. Sergeant Killcarhy was on duty when Policeman Spann took the prisoner in. The sergeant decided that the prisoner was Harris and remarked that he would have to hold him until he could hear further from Sheriff Holland. Police Sparn went through the prisoner's pockets and relieved him of a 32 calibre six chamber revolver. The pistol was laid on the desk inside the railing, where Sergeant Killouhry was sitting, entering the arrest and the charge on le docket.
"What am I arrested for?" asked the prisoner

"For larceny after trust on a telegram from Sheriff Holland at Jacksonville," remarked the sergent.

"I will never go!" Harris exclaimed in a firm tone. He fingered his eyeglasses and mustache nervously for a moment, and then, reaching over the rail, picked up the revolver. from the desk. The sergeant glanced up from his book, but Harris rested the weapon on the rail, and said coolly that it was not loaded. The sergeant went on with his writing, while Officer Spann kept his eye on the prisoner's movements. Directly Harris raised the pistol with his right hand, and turned it towards his breast. At the same instant he threw back the cost with his left hand, and thrust the muzzle

"L'will kill myself."

Policeman Spann, who was standing beside Harris, grabbed at his right arm, and snatched it back. The prisoner's eyes flashed and with a quick movement he threw out his right hand directly at Sergeant Killouryh's face. Policeman Spann jerked Harris violently and the pistol exploded with a loud sharp report. Harris had turned the pistol, whether intentionally or not could not be told, from Sergeant Killouryh's head partly towards himself. The bullet flew across the room and The bullet flew across the room and plowed a deep hole into the heater Whether he first intended to kill himself and then pointed the weapon at the sergeant through anger, and then again changed his mind can not be told. Harris would say nothing. At the report of the pistol Lieutenant Green ran into the office, and a crowd quickly collected on the outside of the building. Policeman Spann snatched the pistol away from Harris before he could fire a second shot. Other offices came in and the prisoner Other officers came in, and the prisoner shot. Other officers came in, and the prisoner was taken off at once to a cell and locked up. The affair created a great deal of excitement. No one could explain Harris's actions. Some thought when he turned the pistol from Sergent Killouthry's head be intended to shoot himself. He could have done that before, however, had he been bent on doing it.

Sergeant Killourhy stated that he believed Harris was following an attempt at guide and

Harris was feigning an attempt at suicide. and had no intention of killing himself. Harris was well dressed and would be taken for a man 42 years old. From his appearance one man 42 years old. From his appearance one would say that he is a sport or flash man of some kind. The police think that he is a gambler. What he stole, if anything, was not learned. He had $450 in his pockets and a through ticket from Jackson ville to Baltimore, by rail to Savannah and by steamer from Savannah. A telegram was sent to Sheriff Holland informing, him of the grost who arrived land informing him of the arrest, who arrived this evening and will take Harris to Jackson-

Colonel Tift gets $20,000 for the bridge, and gives up possession at once. In order to commemorate this long wished-for consummation in a fit manner, the Jackson Light Artillery and Albany brass band marched to the river, where several salutes were fired amidst general rejcicing. The acquisition of this property will mark a new era in Albany's prosperity, and a fresh impetus will be given to her every industry, with nothing to retard the growth, and enjoying as she does, such exceptional facilities, Albany bids fair to become the commercial metropolis of southwest Georgia.

At 7 o'clock the train moved off from the Central depot. It backed out past the ice factory, the cotton compress and in sight of the beautiful Magnolia dell, out on to the long treatle across the Muckalee. Then it moved off at a rapid rate forward across the high trestle over the Southwestern track, nearly a half mile long. The train stopped at high trestile over the Southwestern track, nearly a half mile long. The train stopped at Jackson street and at Furlow's lawn, taking on a number of passenger at each place and checking many heavy, well-fifled baskets of provisions. Perhaps 450 people left the city on the train. This was the first big picnic of the season and all men determined to enjoy the meelves.

The first station was Huntington, where sev eral others joined the crowd. The train stopped at DeSoto, Cobb and several other places befor reaching the river, taking on in all perhaps one hundred persons between Americus and the river. The train stopped in about a quarter of a mile from the point where the railroad will cross the river and about a mile from the will cross the river and about a mile from the picnic ground. It stopped in a field of corn and everybody got out under the heat of a blazing sun. Wagons were on hand to take the baskets to the picnic grounds, while the crowd began a starch for shade. Some went straight to the place where the picnic was held, while others went first to the river and then to the picnic ground. On the ground was found a nexty went first to the river and then to the picnic ground. On the ground was found a party of seventy-fiveor more picnicers who had come from the surrounding country. The day was spent quite pleasandy on the banks of a beautiful little stream which rose out of the ground at one place and a few hundred yards from its source disappeared again from sight. The elegant dinner was spread out on a long table erected for the occasion, and the large crowd did justice to it. After dinner the time was spent in strolling and indulgence in the usual smusements. Several visited the other side of the Flint, where they found a blue spring and a cave. The spring is said to have spring and a cave. The spring is said to have no bottom and the cave no end; at least, none of the party who saw the two wonders Friday found those two objects. Returning, the trip was made in about two and a half hours, reaching Americus at 6:30 p.m.

The country through which the eastern extension of this road runs is one of the richest in the state. Large fields of cotton and corn in fine condition and large tracts of heavily timbered land may be seen from the cars all along the line.

war is over. It asks:

Why should any union soldier who faced and beat back Pickett's division at Gettysburg object to placing the monument commemorating this event at the spot where the confederates approached nearest the union lines? Of all places that is the spot to put it. There was the turning point of the war. There was the high water mark, and there the magnificent bravery of the most splendid attack and repulse in the history of war reached its tack and repulse in the history of war reached its climax. Here, then, both union and confederate soldiers can meet on a common ground of utmost bravery. The spot is historic. It ought to be dedicated in honor of with sides with a historic bravery. The spot is historic. It ought there, icated in honor of both sides who battled there.

THE last block of marble has been placed in the Philadelphia city hall. The building is one of the finest in the world. To this time $11,500,000 has been expended and $4,000,000 more will be needed to complete it. It is one of the very highest structures ever reared by the hand of man. The marble work on the tower rises to a height of 337 feet, 4 inches. Above this will rise iron work supporting a heroic statue of William The head of the statue will be 537 feet, 43 inches from the street below, or only about eighteen feet lower than the Washingon monument. The figure of Penn will be about forty feet high, but will appear just life-size to the people who gaze up at it from the streets. The building has been much criticised, but it is really a magnificent structure and admirably adapted to the ob-jects for which it was designed. It is pronounced perfectly fire proof.

WILLIAM T. WALTERS, of Baltimore, valnes his art collection at more than $1,000, 000. Mr. Walters is a Pennsylvanian Scotch Irish ancestry. His love for art has been the ruling passion of his life. The first $5 he ever spent was for a picture. Every year he put aside a part of his income for art purchases. The result has been a private art gallery which many critics consider the nost harmonious and beautiful in the world. The interest in Mr. Walter's ceramics and pictures is increased by the fact that the vast fortune of the owner was made by his own exertions. He is in the liquor busi-

Woman in the United States Professor Oscar Abrahamsohn, of the University of Pennsylvania, is going to Berlin to deliver a series of lectures at the university of that city on "The American Wo-

If Professor Abrahamsohn understands his subject and is capable of handling it in the right way, his lectures may do a great deal of good. He can teach Germans many things they ought to know. For even Germany, with the well-earned reputation of being the most learned nation in the world, is away behind the United States in the rec egnition of woman's just and proper rights. This is no reflection on Germany, for she is fully up to the standard that could be expected on this question in any old country where prejudices hamper progress, and con-servatism is regarded as the synonym of eafety. Nowhere else in the world is woman a free as she is in the United States. Nowhere has she such perfect protection to her individual rights, or such opportunities for her full development. The laws of nearly every state have been amended to give her complete rights of property; and in many states there are statutes designed for her special protection from every injustice, even though her own husband be the aggressor.

Woman's legal status in this country is not relatively higher than her social and intellectual condition. It is one of the peculiar honors of this state, that the first college ever founded for the education of women rose on one of the "old red hills of Georgia." Schools of high grade and liberal scope are now established for girls in every state and territory. Some of the most advanced of these, compare favorably with the oldest and best of our colleges for boys. The social status of woman in America is the outgrowth of our Anglo-Saxon instincts, refined and elevated by our free institutions. In no community in this country would women be permitted to perform the menial and degrading labor which is often forced upon them in the most enlightened nations of Europe. In some of the English coal mines, women are compelled to pull carts which are so heavy that the poor creatures are obliged to harness themselves like horses. Such brutality would not be tolerated for a day anywhere in the United States. Sickening pictures are drawn by reliable Americans who have visited the great factories and mines of Europe, and witnessed the tasks which are there given to women. There is abject poverty to an alarming extent in many of the larger cities in our own country, but while woman often suffers here, there is a respect for her sex which is found in every class of society, and which protects her from the indignities endured by her sisters in other lands. Women are finding many avenues to self-support opening to them in the United States. They are more and more in demand in the cities every day. they have demonstrated that they excel in many kinds of work. With the law so firmly on her side; with the best schools open for her culture ; with a shield of sympathetic protection in the manly sentiment of the country; and with commercial enterprise extending its favors to her, the American woman has cause to be thankful. The Drift of Things. Sober and sensible citizens, and those who occasionally enjoy a lucid interval, see in the tendencies of the age much that is calculated to shock and disgust them. Everywhere there is a disposition on the part of the many to oppress the few; to accomplish both worthy and unworthy ends by brute force; to reassert the old theory of ty rants and robbers that might is right. Stripped of all their gushy, slushy rhetoric, this is just what the theories, principles and platforms of our bogus social reformers amount to.

Day by day the revolutionary elements of society increase in strength. Already we have socialists, communists, anarchists, and several alleged labor organizations in no sense identified with the interests of the real working classes of the country. We have, also, the "Anti-Poverty Society." There are hundreds of papers and lecturers whose sole mission is to make the poor, the ignorant and the lawless dissatisfied with the established order of things. Infidels are employed to inflame the irreligious and unstable, while those who cannot be reached in this way are stirred by self-appointed and irresponsible evangelists who pander to the mob by dwelling upon the wrongs of the poor and the wickedness of the rich and well-to do classes.

Steadily this volcano under the commonwealth gathers strength. The surge and thunder of its pent-up forces may be heard by all who care to listen. But the warning not heeded. It is the fashion to laugh at these things, but it may well be doubted whether laughter is the best way of dealing with public enemies. It is not enough to simply place our trust in the common-sense of our people and their devotion to law and order. Rousseau's writings on the social contract were treated just as we treat the ravings of our social reformers. The respectable classes of French society laughed at Rousseau's book. They thought it so absurd that it carried its own answer with it. But, as Carlyle says, their skins were used to bind the second edition. We are entering upon the era of just such crazy reform and sham civilization, and it is time to take a hint from the past. Instead of laughing at our Rousseans, suppose we lock them up.

Our statutes against sedition, conspiracies unlawful assemblages, disorderly conduct vegrancy and language and conduct tending to promote breaches of the peace, are substantially the same in every state, and it needs only the prompt enforcement of these laws to keep our outlaw elements in their proper places. Our true policy is not to suppress trouble when it comes, but to nip it in the bud and prevent its fall develop ment.

The Cotton Movement,

The New York Financial Chronicle, in its weekly review of the movement of the cotton crop, says that for the week ending last Friday the total receipts have reached 13,077 bales against 15,141 bales last week, 14,222 bales the previous week and 21,627 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1886, 5,135,231 bales, against 5,078,348 bales for the same period of 1785-86, showing an increase since September 1, 1886, of 56,883

The imports into continental ports for the week have been 60,000. There has been ancrease of the cotton in sight of 31,651 bales as compared with the same date of 1886, an increase of 110,034 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1885, and a decrease of 276,183 bales as compared with

The old interior stocks have decreased during the week 10,520 bales and were Friday night 135,471 bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 12,192 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 6,936 bales more than for the same time in 1885 86.

The total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1886, are 5,173,677 bales: in 1885 86 were 5,283,625 bales; in 1884 85 were 4,742,263 bales. Although the receipts at the outports the past week were 13,077 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 2,602 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 18,164 bales and for 1885 they were 2,228 bales. The decrease in amount in sight Friday night, as compared with last year is 49,262 bales, the increase as compared with 1884-85 is 695,495 bales and the increase over 1883 84 is 683,695 bales. The Chronicle, in its monthly review, gives some interesting figures. The gross movement during April exhibits a decline from the figures for the corresponding month of the two preceding years, the month's total being 50,515 bales, against 80,461 bales last year and 51,932 bales in 1885; for the eight months the aggregate is 1,197,568 bales, against 1,071,-817 bales, and 894,760 bales, respectively, for the same period of the two precedin seasons. The net movement for the month is also below that for April of 1886, but exhibits an increase over the same month in 1885 of 7,868 bales. The totals are 30,-304 bales this year, against 59,468 bales in 1886, and 22,536 bales in 1885. Notwithstanding the smaller month's movement, the aggregate net for the season to date centinues in excess of that for any similar reried in our record.

The Chronicle says that in common with the overland, receipts at the ports during April record a decline from a year ago. In fact the net arrivals have been less half what they were in April 1886, reaching 89,186 bales, against 202,866 bales, and in comparison with 1885 there is a loss of 14,-189 bales, the total then being 103,375 bales. For the eight months, however, the aggregate is in excess of that for either 1885-86 or 1884-85. The exports to foreign ports have fallen off very considerably during the month, the number of bales shipped aggregating 195,118, against 322,149 a year ago, and 186,302 in 1885. Contrasted with last year the total to May 1, records an excess of 559,374 bales, and the gain over 1884-85 is 583,401 hales. Port stocks are now 290,655 bales less than on May 1, last year, and the decline from a year ago in the stocks at interior towns is about 146,000 bales

The amount of cotton marketed since September 1 in 1886-7 is thus seen to be 146,477 bales more than in 1885-6, and 722,781 bales more than in 1884-5. The total takings by spinners since September 1, 1886, are 1,769, 191 bales. Of this amount southern spinners have taken 331,000 bales. Northern spinners had up to May 1 taken 1,438,191 bales, a decrease from the corresponding period in 1885-6 of 145,625 bales, and an increase over the same time in 1884 5 of 204,-

In the Dim Distance.

Herr Falb, of Vienna, is an eminent scientist, whose contributions to the literature of seismology are highly valued. According to a cable special he has just published a work on planetary revolutions, in which he makes some astounding predic-

The theory put forth by Herr Falb is that the earth, like all the planets in the solar system, is slowly but surely drawing nearer to the sun, and that in the course of time a collision is bound to occur. The moon, in the meantime, is approaching the earth a the rate of nine feet in a century. The result will be to chapge the tides and the climates. The sea will invade the land, and the final collision will smash up everything. The other planets will meet the same fate. and the sun itself will, one day, be extinguished

Upon the whole, Herr Falb is a much nicer man than Wiggins. His predictions are to take effect at such a distant period in the future that they cause no immediate alarm. This is as it should be.

An Important Pamphlet.

We have received from the railroad com mission of Georgia a neatly-printed pamphlet, the title of which is as follows: "Circular No. 82. Standard Freight and Passenger Tariffs, Rules and Classifications of the Railroad Commission of Georgia. In effect May 1st, 1887." The contents are even more comprehensive than the titlepage. A vast amount of labor and care have been expended on it, and it gives information that is of the highest importance not only to every merchant and shipper in the state, but to all the people,

For instance, a shipper with his pamphlet before him, knows precisely the amount of freight he will have to pay on any article to any point within the limits of the state. The standard freight tariff of the commission has been elaborated after consultation with the people and with the railroads, and as it stands, it may be regarded as in a measure permanent. Under its operations, the reads are making money, and all interests seem to be satisfied.

After the standard tarisf there is a table showing the relations between the rates thereof and the various railway con in the state. Then there are the rules governing the transportation of passengers and the transportation of freight. There are extracts from the laws of the state, relating to these subjects, and then there is a general classification of articles, followed by a table of railroad distances in Georgia.

It is to be regretted that the funds at the command of the commission will not permit them to circulate this important pamphlet among the people. As the next best thing, arrangements have been made with Mr. W. J. Campbell, of THE CONSTI-TUTION, for supplying the pamphlets at a merely nominal rate, to cover the cost of printing. His notice will be found in our advertising columns.

The Trouble With Old Virginia.

From an Fxcbange. ral Imboden, the noted con leader, is in the employ of the treasury department as an expert on the subject of the natural resources and transportation in Virginia. it was to Culpepper.
"Two miles, sir," said the minister. "Well," said Bragg, "is it much of a town?"
"No; it is not a very big town," replied the clergyman; and then, with a brightening of the eyes and a proud, stiffening of his long, thin frame, he added, "But, sir, General Washington once had his

Unveiling an Indian Idol

From the Reno Gazette A rock which the Sioux Indians near Fort Yates, D. T., have worshiped for generations as the petrified form of a young squaw, was formally un-veiled the other day and dedicated to peace and plenty. It appears that the white settlers in the vicinity have long supposed that this specimen of nature's art work exerted a restraining influence on the Indians, but of late the rock has been removed from its original resting place and it was feared that with its remoyal its charm had disap-peared. So the suggestion was made to Sitting Bull that the statue be placed upon a permanent pedestal and unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. This pleased the chieftain and 5,000 Indians assembled to take part in the strange medley of Christian and pagan rites by which the unveiling was accompa-nied.

Gus Mortimer, the manager of Louis James who is lately from New Orleans, says that the southern people are intensely disgusted with the eccent utterances of Jeff Davis. Bearregard was and is still a great favorite with the southerners, and they resent any slight upon him. Mortimer, who was in the confederate army and in Beaure gard's command, says that he was the most popular gaid's command, says that he was the most popularrebel officer, although he was an extra strict disciplinarian. During the first winter of the war
Beauregard commanded the armies of Virg.nia, and the weather was intensely cold. The men were volunteers, of course, and entirely unused to the hardships of war, and they fell sick in great numbers, and, what was worse, became dull and disprited. Profiting by the example of the first Napoleon, Beauregard hit upon the plan of establishing a theater in the eamp for the amusement of the troops. Mortimer was selected to organize the company and the work of erecting the theater was begun.
The man who was entrusted with the funds neces-The man who was entrusted with the funds neces-sary to engage the company skipped south and de-serted with the money, and the movements of the federal army broke up all the plans. During the war, Mortimer says, the theaters in the south coined money. The horrors of the siege were mitigated and sometimes added to by dramatic performances, and sometimes added to by dramane performances, and when an army entered a town the first thing it did was to organize a company and play in the theater. Some of the armies contained enough soldier actors, for a very fair sized company, and in some cases plays were rehearsed ahead, but of tener still the company was non military and be-longed to the theater or traveled about seeking to play in some town occupied by troops. The charged were 50 cents for privates and $1 cers and the houses were universally packed. The audiences were enthusiastic and generally in the very best of humor, so much so as to make it rather difficult to play. Mertimer was par played off an on for a year or two with all sorts o enduster: but the audience didn't seem to mine the discrepancy a bit, and insisted on his coming forward in the tent scene and singing the "Star-Spangled Banner" and "In the Prison Cell I Sit." On the night of the second day's battle of the Wi derness Mortimer was on picket duty. He had not eaten a morsel for over thirty-six hours, and he was nearly dead with hunger, and very faint, having but recently come from the hospital. It had been the wont of the soldiers to supply the place of food with copious chews of plug tobacco, and Mortimer's pockets were full of the weed, but the doctor had forbidden him using it. He was standing by a tree, faint and despatring, and in

"And now, young fel-low," he said, "if you'll give me a plug of tobacco you can have all the hard-tack your jaws can crack. Fork over." Such exchanges were common and Mortimer clutched the food and passed over a and Mortimer cintened the food and passed over a plug of Virginia tobacco, which was as eagerly re-ceived by the zouave. They talked a moment or two, and then, realizing their danger, prepared to part. Mortimer incidentally told his companion his name and calling. The other was surprised

"You are?" asked Mortimer, delighted. "You are a brick. When the war is over I'll come north and join you. What's your name?"

A Practical View of Poverty.

From the Springfield Republican. Recall the fact, familiar enough, that many a New England minister has brought up a family educated them and started them off working their own way in life, on $700 and $500 a year, and sometimes on less—laboring as Paul did, with his hands as well as head, if need were. Recall the hands as well as head, if need were. Recall the fact that hundreds of farmers over this country have worked long days in all weathers to the utmost of their strength, raising their own food and rarely handling as much as $300 a year in money, and leaving sons and daughters as honest and industrious and poor as they, to keep the world going. Facts of this sort are suggestive, now that a certain class of wage-workers are raising the old Harry about the hardships of the workingman. There are no doubt things wrong to be made right, an no one blames the workingman for trying to get attention and justice, but the characteristics of the new movement are not American—it is the Hewitt and Emerson and country parson's way that is

Mr. Hand was the resident partner in Mr. York, conducting the purchases, etc., for the firm Mr. Hand was a union man. He took no part in politics, but was opposed to the secession movement. He knew enough of northern sentiment to assure him that any attempt to dissolve the union would bring on a disastrous war. With this carviction, and no longer being able to serve his house, he retired from business in the fall of lim. He could not, however, withdraw his capial, and when the sequestration act was passed, it was it was the interprecedent. when the sequestration set was passed, it was in some peril. It was in this emergency that he partner, Mr. Williams, came to his assistance. "The firm had been dissolved," said Mr. Williams

J. B. M'FERRIN DEAD. THE LIFE OF A ZEALOUS AND

The Career of Or. J. B. McFerrin—His Early Ristory and Surroundings—His Long Service in the Ministry.—His Extensive Literary Work

—A Most Useful Life Ended.

NASHVILLE, May 10 .- [Special.] -The eminent Methodist divine, Rev. John B. McFerrin, died at his home in East Nashville, at 1 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning, after a long and painful illness. He was born in Rutherford county, Tenn., June 15, 1807, and in a few short weeks, would have celebrated his eightieth birthday. His father, Colonel James McFerrin, was a native of Virginis, and removed to Tennessee in 1804. Hs grandfather, William McFerrin, was one of three brothers who emigrated from Ireland in the early part of the eighteenth century. John McFerrin's mother was the daughter of John Berry, a Prosbyterian elder, who died in Virginia, and the whole family on both sides were Scotch-Irish Presbyterians and invoterate Protestants.

In the rude cabin of the frontier settler, when Nashville was a trading post, Dr. J. B. McFerrin first saw the light of day, and his McFerrin first saw the light of day, and his early advantages were limited. At the age of eighteen he entered the work of the ministry and was admitted into the Tennessee conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1825, and since then has been a constant and indefatigable worker, and to earnestness, zeal, wisdom and executive ability the beautiful, valuable and imposing institutions of the southern Methodist church in this city are lasting monuments. Sixty-two years of his life were consecrated to the interests of his church. Much of his life was devoted to literary pursuits in connection with his church work. He contributed much to church periodicals, published sermons and prepared and published an elaborate history of Methodism in Tennessee.

For eighteen years he edited the Caristian Advocate, and has been publicly identified with the success and history of the publishing house in this city since its foundation, serving as missionary, secretary, book agent, and has been in every conference since 1836. He was a prominent factor in the controversy between the northern and southern wings of the Meth odist Episcopal church in 1844, and in the following year was a member of the convention which re-organized the Methodist Episcopal church south, and worked diligently for its permanent establishment and prosperity.

Dr. McFerrin made Nashville his home since 1831, although his work necessitated almost constant travel. He was twice married, first to Miss Probert, of Nashville, and secondly to Miss McGavock, of this county. He leaves surviving him six children, Mrs. Jane Auderson of Sumter county, Mrs. James Yarbrough of Nashville, Mrs. Rev. P. A. Sewell of Leba nor, Mrs. W. R. Bryan of Nashville, and Rev. J. A. McFerrin of College Grove, Tenn. His other son, James McFerrin, was killed in a rail-read wreck near Birmingham, Ala., in the fall of 1880. He leaves nineteen grandchildren four of whom are grown.

There was an exciting time up at the Salvation Army barracks last evening.

It was after the services had ended and almost everybody had left. Six or eight of the soldiers had remained behind to put out the lights and close the hall.

"Glory! Glory!" "Hallelujah!" "Bless the Lord!" "Come to Salvation," were some of the expressions which startled them and made them turn up the lamps as fast as they knew how. Upon investigating in the direction from which the sounds came, they found a rather stedy looking individual who at once began to entertain them by going through a lot of gyrations and by giving vent, at the top of his voice, to a number of the regulation salof his voice, to a number of the regulation sa was easy to see that he was full-of

After quieting him down some of the soldiers got him down on the sidewalk and tried to sober him up by pouring water on his troubled brow. But he seemed to have no desire to exchange his condition for a less happy one, and the water had no effect ucon him.

Most of the party grew tired of the company of their exuberant friend in a short time, and went back into the hall or started for home, but can write the started for home,

"Now, you go home and sober up," he said to his practical anti-prohibition companion, "and come down temorrow night and get saved."

"Idon't want to go home."

"But you must. It's getting late."

"What do I care for that? I'm going to stay with you. You're a pretty good fellow."

"No, you're not. I want to go home. I'll pray for you before I go to bed, and tomorrow, when you are sober, come down to the barnecks."

HE WANTED TO DIE.

Arch Anderson, the Bill Poster, Throws Bimself in Front of a Moving Engine.

Himself in Front of a Moving Engine.

Arch Anderson, the bill poster, made a desperate attempt to suicide about half-past twelve o'clock last night.

Anderson was drinking pretty freely last night, and about midnight turned up on Decatur street, pretty full. Officers on the beat o dered him away, but to the orders he paid no attention. Finally Patrolman Christophine arrested Anderson and started to police head-quarters with him. At first the man was quite unruly, but as he was passing the Kimball he turned to the officer, saying:

"Let me loose and I'll go along quiet."

The patrolman took Anderson at his word, sad side by side the two walked across the railroad tracks. Just before they reached the last track, an engine crossed Loyd street moving west. The officer, with Anderson beside him, stepped upon the last track just as the engine passed the carshed. When in the middle of the track, Anderson placed his hand on the patrolman's shoulder and said, "Goodbye."

As he uttered the words, he dropped flat up-on the ground, his head resting on one rail and his feet on the other. The patrolman grabbed him and attempted to pull him off, but Anderson resisted saying,
"Leave me alone."

"Leave me alone."
The engine was by this time within a few feet of the man. The engineer had noticed the man lying upon the rails, and with bell and whistle tried to frighten him off, at the same time reversing his engine. Just as the engine was upon Anderson, Patrolman Christophine let go his arms, and grabbing him by the hair, gave one strong pull. Anderson yelled with pain and kicked hard, but the hair holt held and his feet cleared the rail just as the engine stopped upon the track where he had been lying. Anderson was booked for drunk and locked up.

The Atlanta Rifles to Attend the Drill in Macon.

The Atlanta Rifles will leave this evening on a special train via the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road for Macon. It is understood that they will act as a special escort to the governor and his staff, who are to go down on the same train. Their appearance in this capacity en route will give an especial zest to the excursion for all participants.

It is well known throughout military circles in the state that the first object of this visit to the central city will be to attend the approaching prize drill which is to be held there between the best companies of the state. And it will be making no invidious distinction to say that the state has none more deservedly popular, among her many efficient and well disciplined companies of citizen soldiery than this of the Atlanta Rifles. Nor is the cause of this popularity difficult to find. The gallant captain, his efficient lieutenants, and a line of rank and file, trimmed out in a suitable uniform that is set off by the symmetrical and soldierly form of brave young men, and all animated by a spirit of obedience—the soldiers' first duty—gallantry and devotion, are qualities that are not only calculated to arouse pepular enthusiasm, but to secure and retain the esteem of a critical judgment.

The company is under the command of Captain A. C. Sneed, who is ably seconded in his duties by his subordinate officers, all of whom fill with distinction to themselves their several posts of duty. From the company, sixteen (four fours) will contest with detachments of the other compannies for the prize offered for superior excellence in drill, and while they are medest in pretension they go out with high hopes.

Macon, it cannot be doubted, will make their contents of the other compannies for the prize offered for superior excellence in drill, and while they are medest in pretension they go out with high hopes.

Macon, it cannot be doubted, will make their reception as cordial as their invitation has been hearty; and in this reference is had to all the visitors, and years hence, these men will look back to this visit, as one of the cases of their lives. So that this occasion will serve rectantly as one of a temporary recreation and look back to this visit, as one of the cases of their lives. So that this occasion will serve not only as one of a temporary recreation and pleasure, but one for drawing together the ties of brotherhood throughout the state.

Atlanta's most cordial greetings are sent with the "Rifles" to the sister city, and gallant soldiery that they go to meet them, in emulous but kindly rivalry.

The company will assemble at the armory about half past three and at half past four will start for the East Tennessee depot. About forty members will go down and as the men march to the depot they will be led by a brass band. They will take with them a carriage and four fine horses. The Central train which leaves the union passenger depot at two o'clock will carry out three special cars and two military companies. Two of the cars will be covered with streamers, and will be occupied by the Mooreland Park Cadets and the other by Dahlonega Cadets. The third car will be used by citizens going down and Mr. Sam Webb will have charge of the three coaches.

Macon Military Drill. The old reliable Central railroad has contracted with the Moreland Park cadets and the Dahlonega cadets, to transport them to Macon, to attend the military drill in that city on May 11th and 12th. Round trip will be sold on May 10th and 11th to Macon, for civilians, good to return May 14th, at the low rate of $2.70. The Central is always abreast the times 32.70. The Central is always acrass the times and is noted for regularity in its passenger service; the trains arrive and depart between Atlanta and Macon at convenient hours, as follows: Leave Atlanta 6:35 a. m., 2 p. m. and 6:50 p. m. Arrive Macon 10:10 a. m., 5:40 p. m. and 10:40 p. m. Returning, leave Macon 3:35 a. m., 9:10 a. m., 5:20 p. m., arriving at Atlanta 7:90 a. m., 1:05 p. m., 9 p. m.

7:20 a. m., 1:05 p. m, 9 p. m.

The Central is the only line running three daily trains between Atlanta and Macon. By this line you depart and arrive at union deots in heart of both cities; and are not landed the outskirts of town. For speed, comfort of safety, take the old reliable Central. The Central does not propose to make a dangerous and too fast schedule, but will carry you to Macon on advertised time

Burned with Alcohol. L. E. Alford, a jeweler at Stilson's, on White hall street, was horribly burned about the face yesterday morning. About nine o'clock in the morning Mr. Alford was doing some repairing in a room in rear of the store. In the work he was using a lamp burning alcohol. The wick had burned down low and while he was picking it out the lamp expleded with a lowly report. the turning alcohol flew all over the gentle-man's face and continued to burn. Mr. Stilson heard the report, and rushing into the back room found the alcohol still burning on Mr Alford's face, he being unable to put it out. Mr. Stilson grabbed a towel and threw it over the face, extinguishing the blaze. The beard was all burned from Mr. Alford's face, and the hair from his head. His eyes were burned so badly that he could not see, and the skin peeled off his face. Dr. Jarnigan was called in, and found the gentleman suffer-ing intensely. His burns were dressed and he was then removed to his home on Houston street. The gentleman suffered intensely and may lose his eyesight.

The Game in Memphis MEMPHIS, Tern., May 9.—[Special.]—About fifeen hundred people were in attendance today at the game played between New Orleans and Memphis. The locals were on their mettle, and won hands down. The features of the game were the heavy batting of Memphis, the splendid fielding of Murphy of the visitors and a brilliant lef-hand catch of Andrews on first of a wild throw made by Force. Andrews and Biack, of the locals, made home runs; also Geiss, of the visitors. Smith and Cratty were the battery for Memphis, Aydelott and Brennan for New Orleans.

The Nashville Game. The Nashville Game.

NAHSVILLE, May 9,—[Special.]—The game between Nashville and Mobile today was a fair one, and sufficiently close to interest the crowd, though Mobile covered bases badly. The manager fined the pitcher and catcher each fifty dollars for letting two men score on passed ball. The second baseman had to cover home plate while the catcher and pitcher looked on amazed at the daring base running. Nashville won by score: Nashville 10, Mobile 9. Basehits: Nashville 24, Mobile 16. Errois: Nashville 4, Mobile 4. Batteries: Nashville—Maul and Nicholas; Mobile—Kelley and Moore.

Birmingham Plays on Sunday. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 9.-[Special.]-Th Chattanooga baseball club played here yesterday and today. The locals won yesterday by a score of 12 to 3, and today by a score of 22 to 4. Tonight the managers of both clubs were arrested for playing on Sunday, on complaint of the Evening News, which has recently announced its intention of suppressing Sunday ball playing. The city and circuit court solicitors say there is no law in this state against Sunday ball playing. The arrest was made by the police, and if the mene are fined they will appeal case to a higher court.

More Money Needed to Carry the Bible into Heather Lands-Report of Progress Made Among the Incians-Church Publications - Sunday School Work-Other Matters, 200.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9-The Southern Baptist convention was called to order by President Mell at 9 o'clock this morning for the third day's work. It was announced that the collection taken up at the mass meeting Saturday night for the benefit of foreign missions amounted to $2,445.

The order of business was reported as giving the afternoon session to the continuation of home mission reports, and the evening session property at $2,000.

sion, opening at 8 p. m, to the general home mission meeting to be led by Rev. Mr. Diaz. A motion limiting speeches to ten minutes was adopted.

The report of the committee on suggestions to the board of foreign missions was read by Dr. W. C. Cleveland, of Alabama. It was prepared by Dr. John A. Broadus. Dr. Broadus was indisposed and unable to read the report himself. It pointed out that the missions were much in need of money, and missionsries in some cases must be sent home, but it would cost as much to bring them home as to support them until the stringency for money was passed. It suggested means to raise the needed money.

In discussing the report, Dr. Rowland, of Msryland, called attention to the comparatively small amount given by southern Baptistelight cents per capita per annum. He urged that more foreign mission tracts should be printed.

Dr. F. F. Felk of Tennesses said the needle

Dr. E. E. Folk, of Tennessee, said the people

Dr. E. E. Folk, of Tennessee, said the people should give to the church the money given to Msscns, Odd Fellows, and Knights of Pythias. The work of the church is better, and Baptists should give their money to church work exclusively, while there was need.

The report as read by Dr. Cleveland was adopted.

Dr. Wharton, of Maryland, presented the report of the committee on the Kind Words publication. It reported the removal of the office from Macon, Georgia, to Atlanta, Georgia. The publication at a profit to the Home Mission board of a series of Lesson Leaves and an entirely successful system of Sunday-school publications and need of continued and earnest effort to make the publications more useful and successful by putting them in all the Sunday-schools of the Baptist church. Adopted.

general work of the home mission board, reported that there had been increased support from all the states represented in the convention. There was good work doing under the board among the negroes and Indians, and within a year, wonderfully successful work had been begun in Cuba. For all there was need of more money and more work.

Dr. Holt, of Texas, secretary of the Home mission board, said, that the board has always great aided that state, but yet there are 87 counties, where they have neither preacher nor churches. The Baptists number 160,000 white and 500,000 colored communicants. The recent drouth had effected many portions of the state but the frontier workneeded assistance and must have it. There are 200,000 Germans in Texas and no missionaries among them, where Texas and no missionaries among them, where there should be at least ten. Dr. Penick, of Louisians, spoke of his state as a missionary state field. He said: There are now about 20,of Baptists in Louisiana with 13 missionaries at work, who were heart and soul engaged in Christianizing the people. There are 250,000 French-speaking people, all Catholics, in the state, while among them are daily working two Baptist missionaries. These people are growing tired of the yoke of Catholician and stand ready to thou off the demands cism and stand ready to throw off the demands of the priesthood. Many of them have al-ready become Christians and others of the creole population will follow should opportunity be given them.

Rev. J. S. Monroe, Indian missionary, referred to work in the Indian Territory, the weakest mission connected with this association. There are, he said, 247,761 Indians in the United States, not including Alaska Of these 75,000 are civilized 141,316 wear citizens clothes, 38,801 read the English language and 50,000 children of school age. The territory comprises an area of 64.222 square mills, 79.791 Indians and forty-six tribes. There are three missionaries and 7,000 Baptists, but we need more workers and to come to our aid. Fraterinal delegates from the northern church next addressed the convention briefly. They were Honorable Horatio Jones, of Pennsylvania, and Rev. Dr. Henson, of Chicago. The latter made a very humor-ous speech, keeping his audience in a continual roar of laughter.

The convention then adjournel until even-was the report. Rev. Dr. F. M. Ellis. of Baltimore, will preach the sermon, with Rev. F. M. Harris alternate.

General Green Clay Smith, of Kentucky, from the committee en temperance, reported the following:

Resolved. That we do solemnly protest against the manufacture, sale and use of ardent spirits and express our sympathy with the prohibitionist every where.

Debate on this produced about the liveliest cross-firing yet witnessed during the convention. Mr. Smith said he had in his hand the Heathen-Helper directory of the Baptist convention containing the advertisement of a whiskey dealer, and he asked if that was to help the heathen.

whiskey dealer, and he asked if that was to help the heathen.

Some one answered? "No, the whiskey dealer," which produced laughter.

Mr. Smith continued declaring that the prohibition shower was coming and those who were opposed to it must get out of the way. The phrase in the part of the report preceding the resolution "whisky as a beverage," provoked a long discussion.

The hour set apart for other business having arrived, the report had to be dropped. It will come up again in the morning, when a breezy time is expected.

The remaining hours of the night session were consumed by Rev. Albert J. Diaz, of Havsna, Cuba. He gave the status of the mission in Cuba and its needs. Over $4,000 were raised before the convention adjourned until morning.

until morning. Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents, all druggists.

The Fine Reduced.

Mayor Cooper yesterday remitted fifty dollars of the fine imposed upon Giles Moore in police court. On Saturday morning Judge Anderson imposed a fine of one hundred dollars upon Moore for violating the prohibition law. In his application for executive elemency Moore satisfied Mayor Cooper that he can pay fifty dollars, but that he cannot pay the fine assessed.

Special Schedule to Macon. Wednesday and Thursday, for the special accommodation of those desiring to attend the competitive drill at Macon, the morning train on the East Tennessee will leave at 7 a. m. instead of 6 a. m., as at present, and arrive in Macon at 10:10 a. m. Save time by taking the East Tennessee, the shortest and quickest line.

The well known strengthening properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, improve the blood and complexion.

Spelman Seminary.

The annual exhibition of the nurse training school will occur on Wednesday, May 11, at 10:30 a.m. Class exercises and address by Dr. Howe, of Boston, Thursday, May 12, at 7:30p, m. Public examinations will be given Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Monday, May 11, 12, 13 and 16th, from 9 to 12 a.m. Exhibition of the industrial department on each of these days.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

An Adjustment of the Suits Against the Owners of the Crawford Distillery. The famous Crawford distillery case has been

The famous Crawford disality case has been seemed.

The distillery, concerning which there has been so much controversy, is located in Clayton county, near Hampton. Some time in January last criminal prosecutions were begun in the United States court against I.D. Crawford, the owner or one of the runners of the distillery, Willis Sawders, colored, the distiller, and another negro named Anderson; also against Joseph Davis, store keeper and gauger. The distillery was registered, but extensive frauds, by which the government was deprived of revolute, were charged. Davis being a government efficer, was prosecuted under another section of the laws.

Ever since the suit was instituted, Mr. Crawford and his attorney have been endeavoring

Ever since the suit was instituted, Mr. Cranford and his attorney have been endeavoring to bring about an amicable adjustment of the difficulty, and several propositions have been made. Terms were finally agreed upon and on yesterday the settlement was made by Mr Crawford's paying over $4,300 and $400 as costs. As soon as the district attorney takes in open court a formal order for the dismissal of the cases, which he has been directed to do, the matter, so fer as it refers to Crawford, Sawders and Anderson, will be at an end.

The case against Davis still hange fire.

NEW YORK STOCKS. Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, May 9.—The stock market today was again dull, nearly featureless. A variety of causes, including the inexplicable tank statement and anxiety still remaining in regard to the effects of the interstate law, and the election of stock ex-change officers which occurred today contributed to this effect. Fructuations were unusually nar-row even for a dull day, operations except in a few unimportant stocks being confined to the efforts of room traders to catch the small profits offering at times. London was a moderate buyer early in the day, but the margin for arbitrage operations was very small, and demand from that source was in-significant. The sensation of the day was furnished by a drop of something over eight per cent in Fort Worth and Denver, only a small portion of which was recovered toward the close. The break was caused by a settlement with ishorts, and pool in stock is believed to have disbanded. Wheeling and Lake Erie was also remarkably weak, but movements in the two stocks had little or no effect upon the general market. A reduction in sterling exchange rates was an element in favor of the lat-ter. Opening was steady this morning, first prices being either unchanged or only insignificant frac-tions different from Saturday's final figures. There was a moderate business at opening, but the mar-ket soon became extremely dull, with activity only in Reading and New England, and the only movement of importance was the weakness in Wheeling and Lake Erio. The general market was steady until noon, after which time it became firm, although affected somewhat by a drop in Fort Worth, which occurred at that time. There was steady though light appreciation of values towards the close, which was dull but firm. The business of the day amounted to 165,000 shares. The majority of stocks are small fractions higher this evening, gains in no case exceeding % per cent; but Fort and Denver Worth is down 534, Wheeling and Lake Erie 4, and Rock Island 1/2 per Exchange dull but steady at 486 1/204881/6. Money easy at 3@5, closing offered at 3. Sub-treasury balances: Coin $134,659,000; currency $15,817,000.

THE CHICAGO MARKET, Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Produce.

Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, May 9—Today's markets as a whole were dull for some time. Fluctuations for the en-tire morning were between 85@85% for June. The volume of trading in the pit was remarkably light. the clique did absolutely nothing. June opened at 85%c, July 84%c and August 82%c. All futures closed a fraction under the opening. The decrease in the visible supply was only 869,000 bushels. Corn opened quiet, and during the morning trading was very slow, but about noon the announce-ment of a decrease of 300,0:0 bushels in the visible apply firmed the market very perceptibly, and rices advanced 1/46%,c, but before the close eased

Trading in short ribs and lard was light and mainly of a scalping nature. At the opening a weak feeling prevailed, but towards the clo c a better feeling and a reaction followed, and the last sales at 1 p. m. were at the same figures at Satur

The English Grain Trade. LONDON, May 9.—The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade during the past week, says: Values of English wheat are against buyers. In the provincial markets there is scarcely any offer, and an advance of 6d to 1s is asked. Sales of English wheat during the week were 60,-442 quarters at 33s 2d, against 65,930 quarters at 31s 5d during the corresponding period last year. The trace in foreign wheat is steady and rather against buyers. Corn is in short supply and values are stiffening. Two cargoes of wheat arrived. One cargo was sold and one was withdrawn. At today's arket wheat was quiet and prices unchanged Flour was firmer at an advance of 3d to 6d on the week. Corn was scarce and 6d dearer, Oats were 3d to 6d dearer.

THE YOUNG MEN'S LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.
The annual meeting of the Young Men's Library association will be held tonight at the library hall on Decatur street. All the members, and the public generally, are urged to attend.

REWARDS REVOKED. Governor Gordon issued an order yesterday revoking all proclamations offering rewards for fugitives, which had been issued by the governor of Georgia precious to January 1, 1886. This is done in order that the old matters may be cleared up.

A SMALL FIRE.—An alarm of fire was rung in from bex 52, located corner Mitchell and Mangum streets, about 10 o'clock last night. The department turned out promptly, and finding the fire in a negro house, succeeded in extincipling it before any great department. tinguishing it before any great damage was REVENUE ARREST.—Deputy Marshal Harbeson brought to the city yesterday William Gaddis, Lumpkin county, charged with violation of the internal revenue laws. Gaddis was taken before Commissioner Baker at Dahlonega, and was committed by him to the Fulion county jail.

IMPROVING RAPIDLY.—A few days since Hon. A. J. Julian, of Forsyth county, submitted to a painful surgical operation, a tumor being removed from his neck by Dr. Willis Westmoreland. Mr. Julian, who is at 42 Westmoreland. Mr. Julian, who is at 42 Westmoreland. Westmoreland the proving rapidly. His physicians say that he is doing just as well as could possibly be expected.

SHE TORE UP A CURTAIN.—Mrs. Jennie Bucker, a middle aged white woman, from Macon, was confined in the city prison last night. Mrs. Bucker has been living with her sister, at 105 Yougo street, for some time. Yesterday she manifested sigus of insunity, and, after destroying some property, was sent to police headquarters for safety.

COLONEL MARTIN ACQUITTED .- The case of Colonel J. H. Martin, managing editor of the Atlanta Journal, charged by Jacob Bartz with criminal libel, came up before Justice Manning yesterday afternoon. It was shown that the item to which Mr. Burtz objected was neither written by Colonel Martin nor submitted to him, and he was promptly discharged.

SAFE AT ALBANY.—A telegram received at the office of the United States marshal announces the safe arrival at Albany. New York, of Deputy Marshals Campbell and Edmonson and Mr. J. W. Erwin, who were in charge of three prisoners for the Albany pentientiary. The prisoners were turned over to the penitentiary authorities on [Sunday morning.

THE GOVERNOR'S MOVEMENTS .- GOVERNOR Gerden has reconsidered his determination to be in Columbus today, going from there to Macon, and will, instead, leave for Macon with a number of the members of his staff, on the special East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia train, which has been chartered to take the Atlanta Rides. The party will remain in Macon until Friday.

To Another Court.—Rev. W. B. Barnes, the colored preacher-lawyer, who is charged by Justice Landrum with having committed perjury in having sworn falsely as to the value of his property, was to have been tried before Justice Manning yesterday afternoon. Upon being brought into court, he objected to being tried by Justice Manning, and the case was, therefore, turned over to Justice Butts, He will probably be tried some time today.

QUIET WEDDING .- The residence of Mrs. F. M. Alken, 32 Stonewall street, was the scene at noon yesterday of a quiet wedding, the high contracting parties being Miss Dolla Bookout, neice of Mrs. aikin, and Mr. Edgar Ridgeway, of West Paints (C.) of West Point, Georgia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Dunlap in the presence of the relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Ridge way left last evening for West Point, where they will make their future home.

THE SUPERIOR COURT.—The superior court met at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Judge Marshall J. Clarke presiding. The case of Manckin vs. Wolf was taken up. This is a bill in equity. The plaintiff is represented by Hoke and Burton/Smith and W. S. Thomson, and the defendant is represented by Harrison & Peeples and Hall and Hammond. A great many witnesses are to be examined, and the case will probably consume the greater part of this week.

OLD LANDMARKS Go. - The work of tearing OLD LANDMARKS GO.—The work of tearing away the building recently occupied by Elam Johnston & Co. and Robert Pause was begun yesterday. This is done to make way for the new bank building to be erected by Messrs. Gould and Van Dyke. It is expected that the eld buildings will be torn away and that ground will be broken for the new within two weeks, and by December 1 what promises to be one of the finest buildings in Atlanta will be ready for occupancy.

MOTHER GOOST ACCUPATION.

MOTHER GOOSE AGAIN.—Mother Goose and her temperance family was produced for the second time at DeGive's operahouse, yesterday afternoon, the performance having been repeated by request. The andience was quite large, the little ones, especially, being out inforce. Several new features were introduced, among them, the singing of "White Wings," by Howell Price and Julia Manning. The performance as a whole was excellent and reflects great credit upon Mrs. C. W. Hubner and those who have assisted her in training the children.

The Fourth Week.—Yesterday morning the Atlanta chess tournament began its fourth week. The following is the latest score: Bloout won 14; lost 2. Cary won 4; lost 3. Davis won 6; lost 5. Green won 7; lost 9. Fowler won 11; lost 3. Prathner won 3; lost 6. Robinson won 7; lost 5. Scruggs won 11; lost 7. Tucker won 10; lost 1. Wall won 4; lost 11. Weisarfield wen 5; lost 2. Wurm won 11; lost 3. At present Major Blount has the best score, but he is pressed closely by Captain Tucker. The interestin the tourney is greater than ever.

Not Quite Ready.—The large crowd of curious people who went out to the Atlanta glassworks yesterday to witness the process of glass making, were subjected to a disappointment. The furnaces were heated up, but Sakrintendent Weyer decided not to make a melt till Wednesday. He expects to actually begin work tomerrow about noon. At that time he will make some bottles, pitchers and lamp chimneys. The first pitcher he makes he promises to present to THE CONSTITUTION. Several glass walking sticks and amber bottles were made yesterday while the workmen were apprimenting.

COMITY OF STATES.

M'NALLY'S EXTRADITION SUSPEN-

Extensive Hearing Before Georgia's Executive Yes-terday—The Case Thoroughly Discussed - Proof that the Dog Stealing Prosecution is Buna Fide-South Carolina's Sait, Etc.

Governor Gordon has taken definite action in the case of John P. McNally, suspending the execution of the executive warrant for McNally's delivery to the South Carolina authorities until the case against him in the Richmond county courts is decided,

On the 4th of this month an executive warrant for McNally's extradition was issued by Governor Gordon, but as it was urged that the execution of the warrant should be suspended, the governor named vesterday as a time when he would hear what McNally and his friends could say on this score.

Under the laws of Georgia a man for whom requisition has been made by another state cannot be extradited while under prosecution in the courts of this state, and if convicted of the offense charged in the Georgia courts, must not be delivered up until the sentence of those courts shall have been satisfied.

McNally is charged with kidnapping in South Carolina, and in Georgia with stealing a dog.

In his order issuing the warrant for McNal-In his order issuing the warrant for McNally's extradition, Governor Gordon expressed some doubts as to the character of the prosecution in the Richmond county courts. The offense, dog stealing, seemed a trivial one, and as the prosecution was not begin until just three months after the offense was alleged to have been committed, the first thought of any one who had watched the progress of the case was that this charge had been trumped up with an idea of preventing, if possible, McNally's extradition. It was to satisfy himself on this point that Governor Gordon ordered

THE HEARING.

Ten o'clock yesterday morning had been fixed upon as the hour when arguments could be made. There were present at the governor's office at that hour. Governor Gordon, Attorney General Anderson, Judge Nisbet, secretary of the executive department; Colonel Salem of the executive department; Colonel Salem Dutcher, of Augusta, cousel for Mr. McNally; Hon. Charles Z. McCord, of Augusta, representing Mr. Ottmar G. Gauter, the prosecutor in the dog-stealing case; and Mr. McNally in the dog-stealing case; and Mr. McNally himself.

Colonel Dutcher began the arguments, first raising the point that the requisition papers were defective. This point was based upon the fact that, under the act of congress of 1793, when a requisition is sought upon an indictment, there must be appended to the requisition a certified copy of the indictment. In this case what the clerks of the Alken county, South Carolina, courts did certify to was simply four sheets of writing, drawn up in the form of an indictment, but not indorsed "true bill of the grand jury." It was claimed, therefore, that this was not a certified copy of an indictment as contemplated by the law. A number of authorities were cited austaining this point. of authorities were cited sustaining this point.
Subject to this objection to the requisition itself, a suspension was moved upon

FOUR GROUNDS.

First. At the time of the demand for his extradition, McNally was under prosecution for an offense against the laws of Georgia, and under the Georgia eode the governor must suspend the delivery until that case is determined.

In answer to the insimutation that this was a fivolous prosecution, section 4402 of the code was cited. This expressly declares the larceny of a dog an offense against the laws of Georgia. The South Carolina statutes were also cited to show that dog-stealing in Georgia is a crime which the weeker republics they hidrography in subject to greater penalties than kidnapping in South Carolina. Certificates as to the high character for integrity and truthfulness of Mr. Gauter, the prosecutor, were presented. These were signed by members of congress, the mayor of Augusta, judges, solicitors, editors and other prominent prople.

It was argued that if the good faith of this prosecution could be looked into, thus going behind the certified record, justice would require that the requisition from South Carolins be looked into in the same way. But Attorney General Auderson, in the Roberts' extradition case, decided that we could not go behind the face of such records.

face of such records.

It was claimed that there is every presumption in favor of the verity of the court record and the good faith of the man who makes the THE SECOND POINT

THE SECOND POINT raised by Colonel Dutcher was that F. A. Blackwood is under indictment in the courts of Richmond county for forgery, whereby he defrauded McNally, this crime antedating the alleged kidnapping. The records show that McNally was the prosecutor on this indictment against Blackwood and the certificate of Solicitor-General Wright was produced to show that the state's case must fail in case McNally should be extradited, as he is the only witness to prove the forgery. It was only witness to prove the forgery. It was further stated that, under the laws of Georgis, Blackwood can make a demand for trial and unless this demand is granted, he must be ac-nnlees this demand is granted, he must be acquitted of the offense, so that the injury done McNslly could not be redressed, or the violation of the laws of Georgia atoned for, if McNslly were sent out of the state.

The third point raised was that the provision of the constitution of the United States which provides for the surrender of fugitives from justice must be harmonized with that later provision of the same constitution, which de-clares that no state should deprive any person within its borders of

within its borders of

of the laws. McNaily was entitled to a speedy trial of the charge against him and to have redress of the injury done him by Blackwood.

To send McNally out of the state at this time would deprive him of the rights to which he is entitled in common with every other citizen of Georgia and thus one of these provisions of the constitution of the United States would be obeyed and the other violated.

By keeping him until he had full measure of legal rights and then surrendering him, both provisions would be obeyed.

legal rights and then surrendering him, both provisions would be obeyed.

AN ENTIRELY NEW POINT in the controversy, and one upon (which Colonel Dutcher put considerable stress, is that since making requisition for Stone and McNally, the state of South Carolina has voluntarily submitted to the decision of Georgia courts the question as to whether there had been any kidnapping at all.

It seems that when Blackwood instituted habeas corpus proceedings for his release, South Carolina, through her governor and attorney general, came in and made themselves parties. The hearing on the application for a writ of habeas corpus will take place on Wedneeday.

It will be interesting to note just how far the South Carolina authorities have gone toward submitting the entire question as to whether submitting the entire question as to whether the arrest of Blackwood was legal to the Rich-mond county courts. Blackwood instituted proceedings for a writ of habeas corpus and the state of South Carolina

State of Georgia, Richmond County—In the Superior court—In Re-Frederick A. Blackwood—To the Hon, Henry C. Roney, Judge of the Superior Court of the Augusta Circuit in said State:
Whereas, It has been brought to my attention that on the 8th day of March, 1887. Frederick A. Blackwood, a citizen of the state of South Carolins, was arrested at his home in Aiken county, in said state, by Edward Stone and J. P. McNally, citizens of the state of Georgia, without warrant of law, and conveyed thence, without his consent, unlawfully against the peace and dignity of the state of South Carolina, beyond the limits of said state, and into the city of Augusta, in the state of Georgia, where he is now imprisoned in the county jail; and

Now, therefore, I, John Peter Richardson, as governor of the state of South Carolina, and in the name of said state, do respectfully petition that a writ of habeas corpus be granted and that your honor will cake notice of the fact that the state of South Carolina complains that her sovereign rights have been violated by the alleged kidnapping of the said Frederick A. Blackwood and submits that a proper regard for these rights under the comity between the states should require the release of the said Frederick A. Blackwood.

In witness whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused to be affixed the seal of the executive department of the city of Columbia, this 25th day of April, A. D. 1887, and in the one hundred and eleventh year of the independence of the United States of America.

Louis R. Chagal, Private Secretary.

On the 23d of April the governor of South Carolina made requisition for the alleged kidnappers, and on the 29th filed the above petition in the Richmond superior court.

The state of South Carolina will, of course,

ARDE IN GOOD FAITH

The state of South Carolina will, of course, ABIDE IN GOOD FAITH
by the decision of the court, whose judgment it has thus invoked; and should that court decide there had been no kidnapping, that state would doubtless withdraw the requisition at once. On the other hand, it was argued that if the court decided that Black wood must be replaced upon Carolina soil, that state would doubtless consider the original injury complained of atoned for and would withdraw the requisition on that ground. The pendency of this cause is, therefore, an additional reason why McNally's surrender to the South Carolina authorities should be stayed until that ns authorities should be stayed until that cause be determined.

Certified copies of the papers in the various suits and a certificate of the solicitor general that the proceeding against Blackwood must fail without McNally's testimony, were submitted. GAUTER'S CASE.

Mr. McCord, in representing Mr. Gauter, said that the governor's order of a few days since, in timating that his proceedings against McNally were not in good faith, was a very grave insinuation against Gauter. He presented many certificates, showing the high standing of his client, and stated that Gauter is very fond of hunting and sets great store of his does. Appendix is a great hunting country. his dogs. Augusto is a great hunting country and good hunting dogs are thought much of. Mr. McCord said that when papers regularly certified are laid before the governor, it is not to be presumed that the partles had committed perjury, or that the officers of the law were in collusion to defeat the just claims of another EXTRADITION SUSPENDED.

Last evening Governor Gordon ordered the suspension of the executive warrant.

In his order the goverdor recites, briefly, the main points of the case and being satisfied as to the bons fide character of the proceedings brought by Gauter against McNally grants the suspension as provided by the Georgia code. Indeed under section 55 of the code he is compelled to do so. The points raised as to the necessity of McNally.s. presence at the Blackwood trial are mentioned as points upon which, according to many authorities, a stay which, according to many authorities, a stay might be granted, but these do not enter into Governor Gordon's decision.

Governor Gordon's decision.

SOME NEGOTIATIONS.

The executive department has been kept busy for some time past with the Blackwood-Stone-McNally affair, and the result has been voluminous correspondence. A short time since negotiations looking to a compromise were pending. These were instituted at Augusta, interested persons there corresponding upon the subject with Governor Gordon and Governor Richardson. The basis of the compromise was that all parties should be placed in statu que ante bellum—Blackwood to be returned to South Carolina and the proceedings turned to South Carolina and the proceedings tarned to South Carolina and the proceedings against Stone and McNally to be dropped. This proposition did not meet with the approval of either state, and was dropped.

The habeas corpus proceedings will be begun at Augusts on Wednesday, and will be watched with great interest, as the decision of Judge Roney will virtually decide the whole matter.

The Dixies.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixie are, there is no doubt of it, two of the most clever artists who have ever appeared on our stage and they come recommended by the most enthusiastic criticisms, as can be seen by the following extracts:

The performance of Mr. and Mrs. Dixie was really excellent. They made a decided hit in their musical sketch, "Sweethearts," and were foully applauded.—Courier Journal, Louisville, Kentucky.

Mrs. Dixie is a handsome brunette. She has a fine resonant voice and is possessed of great dramatic ability. She looks and acts whatever character she takes, finely.—Evening Telegram, Providence, Rhode Island.

Miss Leyton (Mrs. Dixie) is a fine reader and presents an uncommonly handsome face and figure.—Evening Traveller. Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Dixie do a charming sketch called "Tantrums." They act and sing and are do lightful in each. But the feature in their performance is the four-in-hand bell duet. They are among the best bell ringers on the stage.—The News Journal, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Artistically considered, the musical sketch and four in-hand bell ringing by Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Dixie was the best thing of the evening, and deserved the hearty applause it received.—Gazette, Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixie, the versatile and exceedingly elever comedians, gave one of their original sketches were given, entitled "Tantrums" and "Sweethearts," in which the Dixies sustain all the characters and very amusing recutations, ballads and other matter of a diverting nature are introduced. These artists are undoubtedly the eleverest in that line that have visited the city this season, and it is to be hoped that they will reappear again in the near future.—Brooklyn Dally Times, Friday, April 17, 1886.

"Why, it is all a mystery to me." said Mr. Erskine. "Dorrian has been in America only four years, and has been moving around con-siderably. He is a traveling optician, and a good one, too, and comes in contact with scores of people. I have always found him as square as can be."
"Does he handle much money?"

"Oh, yes. When he went into the bank he had $2,500 with him. He never knew that any of the money was counterfeit or he would not have attempted to pass it. I am going down in the morning to Macon and will then know all about it."

A NEW DEPARTURE.

I bave at considerable cost fitted up my store to accommodate an addition to my business. I have partitioned off a portion of the store and had it nicely arranged, papered and painted, and shall devote the front to the handling of ice cream. The rear will be the fish department, and I have it so arranged as to keep out fish cdor.

The ice cresm department will be kept neat and clean. I have arranged for a full supply daily of the richest, purest and best cream ever sold in this market. It will be made from ever sold in this market. It will be made from pure cream and not one particle of adulteration in it. It will be shipped and kept in porcelain lined cans so no accident from poisoning can result. I will stake my reputation as a merchant on the purity and general quality of these goods. Hotels, restaurants and all consumers of ice cream will find it to their interest to censult me and get prices, as I shall soll it cheaper than it can be made in small quantities. Liberal discount to the trade. Families furnished at 50c per quart or $1.50 per gallon. Call and get estimates to furnish festivals, picnics, etc.

Being the agent of a large manufacturing establishment, I can and do defy all competition, both as to quality and price.

Mr. Buff Applies for the Be-urn of Gaming Appli ances—The Disposition of the Cese—A Resolu-tion by Mr. John Stephens-Old Police— men Trying to Get Back, Etc., Etc.

The board of police commissioners convened in regular session last night in their chamber at police headquarters.

The full board was present. Commissioner Brotherton being the only absentee at roll call. A communication was presented from Henry Huff in the shape of an affidavit. Several months ago the the police made a raid on a gaming house at $9\frac{1}{2}$ Peachtree, and seized a lot of gaming appliances, which were carried to police headquarters and stored away. The property taken belonged to Mr. Huff. In his affidavit he asserts that he had loaned the goods to another party and was ontside the state when they were seized. The chairman, Mr. English, explained the situation, and as Mr. Brotherton took it in he exclaimed:

"We had a case here just like this once before," said Mr. Goldsmith. "Several years ago a man from whom some gaming tools had been taken, asked to get them back, and we declined to do so. I think we could do so in this case."

"We still have the property on hand?" said Mr. Stevens, "and I should like to know what we are to do with it."

"Keep it." remarked Mr. Goldsmith snappishly. "The man who claims the property has a way to get it if he is in the right."

As he spoke he drew from his pocket a paper which was passed to the secretary. The paper was a resolution, and pinned to the resolution was a column extract from a paper. Agony is Courted

By persons who, attacked by a mild form of rheumatism, neglect to seek prompt relief Subsequent torture is prevented by an immediate resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Slight exposure, an occasional draught, will beget this painful malady, where there is a predisposition to it in the blood. It is not difficult to arrest the trouble at the outset, but well nigh impossible to eradicate it when matured Fo evidence in relation to this superb blood depurent is more positive than that which establishes its efficacy as a preventive and remedy for rheumatism. Not only is it thorough, but safe, which the vegetable and mineral poisons, often taken as curatives of the mineral poisons, often taken as curatives of the disease, are not. the Enterprise.

We print below a full list of the members of the Piedmont Fair association, and those gentlemen who have contributed to the fair. This list is very small for Atlanta. There are hundreds of names not on the list that will occur to the casual reader that ought to be on the list at once. Many of these gentlemen have not been solicited because the directors are busy night and day in arranging the details of the exposition. They ought to look the directors up and either become members of the fair association or make liberal donations to the fair.

association or make liberal donations to the fair.

Atlenta is going to have an exposition this fall, that matter is settled; but within the next week the scope of that exposition must be determined irrevocably. What that scope shall be, whether it will be worthy of Atlanta and the Piedmont section or whether it is cramped, will depend on the response Atlanta makes to this appeal during the next few days. There ought to be at least three hundred names added to the subscription list during the week. The chances are that the crowd at the fair will be so great that the hundred dollars as wanted by each subscriber will be returned to him intact. It is almost certain that a large part of it will be, and the directors, in making their estimates, calculate on doing this; but there are a hundred men in Atlanta who are not on this list who could afford to lose the hundred dollars they will pay this year on the five hundred dollar subscription, in order to have the fair a grand success which will insure its permanency and give Atlanta a grand excosition every year for the next ten years. Now, let manency and give Atlanta a grand exosition every year for the next ten years. Now, let every man in the city of Atlanta who believes in the city and is willing to help her in this, the most important enterprise projected since the cotton exposition, come up during the coming week and either become a five hundred dollar subscriber with twenty per cent payable each year, or make a donation to the association for the fair this fall. The directors expect to add from the funds of the association at least $20,000 to the city's appropriation of $15,000 for the building. The Driving club will assist them by adding at least $10,000 more in building the clubhouse and grand stand. Now, if the people will only come up and subscribe liberally to the exposition company, we will have a show this fall that will surpass in usefulness and interest the cotton exposition, fulness and interest the cotton exposition, which stands today without a parallel. The following is a list. Stady it with care, and if your name is not on it see that it is on before be week is out:

The committees were all busy yesterday closing up their departments of the premium list. The list will be a very heavy and a very handsome one, and will be out the latter part and the committee of the committee bandsome one, and will be out the latter part of the week. An edition of fifteen thousand will be printed. The demands for exhibit space are already coming in at a great rate. Chicsgo, on yesterday, demanded 102x192 fort for three exhibits. Letters are received from all sections calling for the premium list and rules for the exhibitors. The main building was cut out for 50,000 square feet of exhibitors' space, which is shout twe thirds the size of the space, which is about two thirds the size of the cotton exposition building; but the committee in charge on yesterday announced that they could get that space in a handsome building under the appropriation and have $1,000 to spare. They were instructed to put this money into extra space, which will give about seventy thousand square feet, and make the building almost as large as the cotton exposi-tion building. Workmen will be laying the foundation for this building early next week.

tion building. Workmen will be laying the foundation for this building early next week. Engineer Clayton was busy with a force of men all day yesterday making the exact location of the race track, and has announced to President Kingsberry that stakes will be set for the workmen on Thursday morning.

Mr. Berkeley, of the Richmond and Danville company will put in. The plan under which they will work is a better one than the one asked for by the exposition company, and will make a very fine entrance and leave plenty of room for the sidetracks, stations and turn stiles. A force of men will be put to work today on the sidetrack.

Everything is moving along in excellent shape. All that is needed is one hundred dollars stock. With this the success of the exposition in assured, and Atlants will see a better exposition in 1887, than the one that made her famous in 1881.

I have received many letters in reference to my testimonial, lately published, commending ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

I cannot spare the time to answer them in writing, therefore would again say, through the press, that I have found ALLCOCK's POROUS PLASTERS invaluable as chest protectors and shields against coughs and colds. Furthermore, I have found ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS unequaled for pains in side, back and chest. NELSON H. BAKER.

WE ARE PLATTING AND WILL SELL ABOUT the 12th of May 43 lots ted on Fror and McDaniel streets, taking in the hill on which the largest fort around Atlanta was built and the hill has since been known as Fortress hill. The lots are well shaded and lay well, many of them from on the Pryor street car line which will very soon be operated by electricity and when so run the time required to reach the city will be only about ten minutes, so a home out on this commanding bill lot will be as easily reached as you could wish, from this hill you take in at a sweep the city of Atlanta and all the surrounding country. You can look over the capitol building and see the Boulerard hills, also Peachtree street and almost every part of the city is in perfect view. The East Tennemes shops are nearby and we are reliably informed a house can hardly be had in the neighborhood, a great demand for additional houses to rent to good paying tenants will soon be upon that section of the city, and besides this, the glass works will be started within ten days and 100 employes from these works will want houses. Now these are facts examine for yourselves and see if there will not be more demand for comfortable cottages where good mechanics can live in close proximity to their work and who get wages that will authorize them to pay a fair rent and meet it promptly, in that section than any other in the city. Look out for plats,
